

Govt. Graduate College for Women, Baghbanpura, Lahore
ADP Physics 1st semester

Short Questions

Q1. what is philosophy of art?

Ans. Philosophy of art is the study of nature of art including concepts such as interpretation, representation, expression and form. It also depicts the influence of art on society for its betterment. It is closely related to aesthetics, the study of beauty and taste.

Q2. what is representation in art?

Ans. Representational art refers to any type of artistic expression that depicts or represents anything from the real world. Thus art is defined by its relationship to human perception, rather than emotion.

Q3. how many type of representational art are there?

Ans. There are four types of representational art known as Realism, Impressionism, Idealism and Stylization. All of these forms of art represent actual subjects from reality.

Q4. What is Realism in art?

Ans. Realism in art is the accurate, detailed and un-embellished depiction of nature or of contemporary life. Artists use oil paints, brushes and canvas, pay attention to details and proportions.

Q5. What is impressionism in art?

Ans. Impressionism is a style to painting that includes small visible brush strokes which shows the bare impression of form, unbalanced color and an emphasis on the accurate depiction of natural light.

Q6. What is Idealism in art?

Ans. Artistic idealism is a movement in art that seeks to represent reality as it is but eliminating all aspects that are not elegant, refined or beautiful.

Q7. What is stylization in art?

Ans. It is an art style that emphasizes artistic freedom over objective representation. Stylized art work typically distort or simplify the subject matter to create a unique, visually striking representation.

Q8. What is meant by craft?

Ans. The term craft is used to describe artistic practices within the family of decorative art. It is a form of making which generally produces an object that has a function such as something you can wear or eat or drink from.

Q9. What is the difference between art and craft?

Ans. The difference of art and craft is that art is original creation whereas craft is carrying out an instruction, following a conversation or employing a technique.

Q10. What social role does art play in a society?

Ans. Art gives meaning to our lives and help us understand our world. It is an essential part of our culture because it allows us to have a deeper understanding of our emotions.

Q.11 How can art highlight the problems of our society?

Ans. Art is not only a mode of expression but it also holds the power to change minds, bring issues to light and give voices to those unheard. In today's world art contributes to culture, politics and communities by highlighting the problems and making positive changes.

Q12. How emotions are represented through the work of art?

Ans. An artist can convey emotion in a painting through the use of color, brushstroke, composition, and subject matter. For example, dark, muted colors may convey sadness or anger, while bright, vibrant colors can evoke happiness or energy. It involves a dynamic interaction between the artist, who creates a visual message, and the viewer, who interprets this message based on their experiences, perceptions, and emotions.

Q.13. How art is used to represent reality of the world?

Ans. Art is a powerful mirror of reality, reflecting many life lessons. When you stand before a canvas, you're not just looking at colours and shapes; you're witnessing an artist's interpretation of the world. Great artists encourage us to view life from various angles, fostering empathy and understanding.

Q.14. What is the theory of Leo Tolstoy on art as a communication of emotion?

Ans. Tolstoy's theory has a lot of charming aspects. He believes that art is a means of communicating emotion, with the aim of promoting mutual understanding. By gaining awareness of each other's feelings we can successfully practice empathy and ultimately unite to further mankind's collective well-being.

Long Questions

Q. How an artist represents reality of his surrounding trough his work of art?

Ans. Art can be a way to express reality by reflecting life lessons, capturing ideas, and conveying emotions. Art can also be a way to see the world from different perspectives and to understand ourselves better.

Art as a reflection of reality

- Universal themes: Art can explore themes like love, loss, joy, suffering, fear, and hope.

- Empathy and understanding: Art can encourage us to see life from different angles.
- Critical thinking: Art can present complex ideas and symbolism that require viewers to think critically.

Art works as a way to express creativity and imagination

- Art can capture ideas, convey emotion, and reveal perspectives.
- Art can be a powerful vehicle that unifies us with a shared sense of reality.
- Art can help us understand ourselves, build confidence, and empower self-care.

Art is used as a way to see the world differently

- Art can be a way to see differently, through and beyond appearances and the limits of physical, cultural, and political vision.
- Art can be a way to create mindfully, being in the process and the present moment.

Art as a way to represent the real world

- Representational art is any type of artistic expression that depicts, or represents, anything from the real world.
- Cave paintings are an early example of representational art.

Q.How an artist communicates his emotions through art?

Ans. Art is a powerful way to communicate emotions and feelings that can be difficult to express with words. Artists use visual elements like color, symbols, and lines to translate their emotions into images. Viewers can then interpret these images and relate them to their own emotions.

- Artists express themselves: Artists use art to communicate their innermost thoughts and feelings.
- Viewers interpret art: Viewers can interpret the emotions that artists convey through art, and also relate their own emotions to the work.
- Art can evoke a range of emotions: Different people can have different emotional responses to the same piece of art.
- Art can be therapeutic: Art can help people feel solace and comfort, and can uplift their spirits.
- Art can inspire creativity: Art can inspire creativity and help people feel connected to others.

Emotional associations

As people develop, they associate certain images with emotions. For example, a sunny day might be associated with playing in the park.

Pattern recognition

The human brain unconsciously searches for symmetry, which can lead to emotion.

Left-brain, right-brain dominance

The right side of the brain is associated with creativity, expressing emotions, and reading emotions.