

Date: _____

Functional English

Day: _____

Def:-

It is the effective use of English language which result in effective communication.

It includes the appropriate/correct use of vocabulary, grammar and pronunciation.

① Audience awareness

② Engaging content delivering

③ Edited and proof read content.

→ Seven C's of effective communication

① Clear

② Concise

③ Concrete

④ correct

⑤ coherent

⑥ Complete

⑦ Courteous

→ Basic rules:-

① Singular subject takes singular verbs

e.g. Ali runs fast.
S.S. S.V.

② Plural subject takes plural verbs

e.g. They run fast.
P.S. P.V.

Date: _____

Day: _____

Singular verb

- Talk about one action, idea or thing in a sentence.
- Ends with -s or -es.
- e.g. Plays, talks, goes.

Plural verb

- Talks about more than 1 idea or action in a sentence.
- Does not end with -s or -es.
- e.g. Play, talk, go

Regular verb

- These verbs have a predictable past form (simple past) and present participle.

→ e.g.
Play → Played
Work → Worked
Play → Playing

Irregular verb

- These verbs have an unpredictable past form - and past participle.

→ e.g.
Go → went (P.S)
Go → gone (P.P)
Be → was (P.S)
Be → been (P.P)

→ Special cases of Subject-Verb Agreement

Uses of the article

a, an, the

a = consonant sound

an = vowel sound

the = specific individual

Indefinite articles

definite articles

an apple

a mango

a bulb

a tree

a cat

an orange

an elephant

snatch the purse

a kite

Assignment no # 1

- ① Skimming and scanning techniques of reading
- ② critical reading skills

Date: _____

Day: _____

⇒ Subject-verb Agreements:-

~~You have provided a clear and concise overview~~

Here's a summary of the key points along with a few additional notes for clarity:

1) Singular S:- [use singular verb.
e.g. The dog drinks his water everyday]

2) Plural S:- [Use plural verb.
e.g. The dogs drink their water everyday]

3) Prepositional Phrases:- [Do not affect the verb form.
e.g. At the store, in the box, on the table]

4) Present tense verbs ending in 's':- [Indicate singular subjects.
e.g. "The girl dances"]

5) One of the [Plural noun] who/that [Use a singular verb.
e.g. Mr. Ahmed is one of the teachers who coaches sports after school]

6) Plural-form subjects as titles:- [often treated as singular.
e.g. Physics is an essential subject.]

7) Gerunds:- [Function as singular noun and take singular verbs.
e.g. Swimming was the sport that taught me how to win.]

Date: _____

Day: _____

8) Compound subject:-

1) When two subjects are joined by 'and' use a plural verb.

2) eg The cat and the dog are playing outside.

9) Indefinite subject:-

1) Some indefinite pronoun are treated as singular.

2) eg Everyone is invited to the party.

~~10) Effective communication~~

⇒ 7 C's of effective communication:- ①, ②

The 7 C's of communication are a checklist that can help you communicate more effectively:-

1) Clear:- Ensure your message is clear.

Keep your message short and simple, and
2) Concise:- avoid unnecessary repetition.

Use examples to show the relevance
3) Concrete:- of your message.

Ensure your message is factual and grammatically accurate.
4) Correct:-

5) Coherent:- Ensure your message is well-structured.

Date: _____

Day: _____

1) Complete-

Ensure your message is comprehensive.

2) Courteous:-

Be polite, respectful and considerate of your audience.

You can apply the 7 C's to all types of communication, including email, presentation, meetings and job interviews.

⇒ Contextual interpretation:-

Contextual interpretation refers to the process of ~~evaluating~~ evaluating and comprehending a situation, text or interaction based on the influences and nuances that can affect its meaning.

1) Tone identification:-

→ Positive or negative:- Determines if the tone is encouraging, supportive or negative.

→ Emotional indicators:- Picking up on anger, ~~see~~ sarcasm, sympathy or excitement.

Date: _____

Day: _____

1) Bias identification:-

- Explicit bias:- Directly stated ^{preferences} ~~preferences~~ or prejudices.
- Implicit bias:- Unconscious leanings expressed in slight word choices or phrasing.
- Cognitive bias:- Misconceptions in thought processes such as confirmation bias (tendency to seek information that confirms earlier beliefs).

2) Stereotypes:-

Identifying when a statement depends on oversimplification or common assumptions regarding a group or concept.

3) Assumptions:-

- Asserted:- Stated belief or premises that are self evident.
- Unstated:- Inferred ideas assumed to be shared, such as knowledge or values.

Reading strategies

Date: _____

Day: _____

6) => Skimming, scanning and critical reading skills, SQ4R:-

-> Skimming:-

It is a way to quickly identify the similarities of information about this text.

1) Use it when:- Perfect to get a long piece of context summarized like an article.

2) How to skim:-

1) Keep in mind heading, subheadings, conclusion

2) Search for highlighted keyword and phrases

3) Empty every ~~extra details~~ ^{introduction}

e.g

A brief glance through a news article for its highlights.

-> Scanning:-

It is the ability to find a specific piece of information in a text.

1) When to use

Helpful for finding specific information

Date: _____

Day: _____

Such as dates, names and other factual data.

2) How to scan:-

1) Adjust the scan area, colours or make the image grayscale.

2) Erase stains, fingers and more.

3) Ex.

1) looking in a dictionary

2) looking for catalogs

3) looking for invoices

→ Critical reading skills:-

It is used to describe the process of reading a text while asking analytical questions about its content.

2) How to critical

1) Active engagement

2) Identify bias

3) Evaluate evidence

4) Note-taking

3) Ex.

Comparing sources, Recognising bias, analysing evidence.

Date: _____

Day: _____

SQ4R:-

SQ4R is a reading method that helps you learn and remember what you read.

It stands for

How to use:

- 1) Survey: Get a sense of what the reading is about by looking at chapter and section titles.
- 2) Questions: Create a list of questions to focus your reading.
- 3) Read: Read the text to answer the questions you created.
- 4) Recite: Test and reinforce your understanding of the material by trying to recite it from memory.
- 5) Relate: Connect new information to concepts or previous information.
- 6) Review: Build your long term memory of new content by reviewing your notes and readings.

Benefits:-

- Help you gain more from what you need
- Prepares you for quizzes and exams
- Helps you retain a lot of factual detail
- Helps you identify errors of confusion.

⇒ Public speaking

Public speaking is the act of delivering a speech or presentation to a live audience. It is also called oratory.

Here are some tips for public speaking.

1) Know your audience

Consider the audience's demographics, interests and knowledge level.

2) Organize your material

Structure your information to achieve your purpose.

3) Watch for feedback

Adapt to the audience's feedback.

4) Let your personality shine

Use humor, tell stories and use effective languages.

Date: _____

Day: _____

1) Don't read -

Unless necessary, avoid reading from a prepared essay.

Public speaking is an important skill that can help you form connections, influence decisions, and motivate change.

2) → Presentation skills:-

Some presentation skills include:-

1) Body language -

It can communicate emotions, even when you are not aware of it. Training in body language can help reduce anxiety.

2) Confidence:-

Confidence comes from preparation, practice and the content of your presentation.

3) Knowing your audience:-

Consider who your audience is such as whether they are experts or beginners.

1) Engaging your audience:-

Engaging your audience helps build rapport,

Keep the interested and capture their attention.

2) Using visual aids:-

Visual aids can help clarify and reinforce key points in your presentation.

3) Anticipating questions:-

Expect that people may ask questions or need clarification.

4) Eye contact:-

Making eye contact with your audience helps keep you and them engaged.

Date: _____

Day: _____

3) Diff b/w ^(memorandum) memo and report :-

Memo

A memo, short for memorandum ^{is a concise} document used for internal communication. It is a concise document used to quickly inform colleagues about a specific issue, policy change or action needed.

2) Memos are brief updates.

3) Length and formality:-

memos are typically shorter and less formal than reports, often only a page or two long.

4) Audience:-

memos are primarily for internal communication within an organization.

Report

1) A report is a more detailed, structured document that presents findings, analysis and recommendations based on research, often intended for a wider audience, including external stakeholders.

2) Reports provide in-depth information and analysis.

3) Length and formality:-

reports can be lengthy and require a structured format with sections.

4) Audience:-

reports can be directed towards both internal and external audiences depending upon the structure.

5) Purpose

memos aim to inform, update or request action on a specific ^{Date} matter.

6) Structure

A memo typically has a simple format with a subject line 'to', 'from' and 'body'.

7) Examples

- Sending a reminder to staff about an upcoming deadline for a project.
- Schedule change

5) Purpose

Report present the results of an analysis, often with recommendations.

6) Structure

report usually includes a title page, executive summary, introduction, body, conclusion and potentially appendices.

7) Examples:-

- Presenting the findings of a market research study to senior management with recommendation for new product development.
- Academic report
- Business report
- Scientific report

Date: _____

Day: _____

4) Business email and formal letter:-

Business email

A business email is generally considered less formal than a formal letter, with emails often having a more concise structure and being used for everyday communication.

2) Emails are quicker and more casual.

3) Formality:-

Business email can range from informal to formal depending on the situation.

4) Purpose

Business email are used for everyday communication within an organization or with external parties.

5) When to use:-

Sending quick updates to colleagues, requesting information, scheduling meetings, following up on a conversation.

Formal letter

A formal letter follows a stricter format, including full addresses and salutations and is typically used for official communications that require a more professional tone.

2) formal letters are more deliberate and serious

3) Formality:-

Formal letters are always designed to be highly professional.

4) Purpose-

Formal letters are often used for official documents like job applications, complaints or legal agreements.

5) When to use-

Making a formal complaint, submitting a job application, sending a legally binding agreement.

5) Diff b/w formal and informal letter

Formal letter

1) Formal letter are written for professional or academic purpose.

2) Formal letters are more structured and use a more formal tone.

3) Tone:-

Professional, official, and respectful.

4) Format:-

Specific format with a logical structure.

5) Language

Standard English, complex sentences and few contractions.

6) Purpose

Serious, such as job applications and formal states.

7) Examples:-

Promotion offers, Job application formal thank you notes

Informal letter

1) Informal letter are written for personal reasons.

2) Informal letters are more flexible and use a more casual tone.

3) Tone:-

Casual and personal.

4) Format:-

Can follow any format.

5) Language

Nonstandard English, colloquial vocabulary, and shorter sentences.

6) Purpose

Personal, ~~sto~~ such as sharing updates or inviting friends.

7) Examples:-

Sharing updates, inviting friends or gossiping.

7) Effective listening / Active listening

Effective listening involves fully focusing on the speaker, attempting to understand their perspective, and showing engagement through non-verbal cues, asking clarifying questions and providing feedbacks.

Here are ~~some~~^{the} summary of the key points along with a few additional notes for clarity:-

• Full attention:-

Giving the speaker your undivided focus, minimizing distraction and being present in the moment.

• Non verbal cues:-

Maintaining eye contact, nodding occasionally, using facial expression that convey engagement and understanding.

• Avoiding interruptions:-

Allowing the speaker to finish their thoughts before responding and avoid unnecessary mistakes.

Date: _____

Day: _____

• feedback signals:-

Using verbal cues like "yes", "I see" or "uh huh" to indicate you are actively listening and follow the conversation.

• Empathy:-

Attempting to understand the speaker's emotions.

• Responding appropriately:-

Tailoring your response to the speaker's message, offering feedback or asking further questions.

→ Benefits :-

→ Improved communication

→ Enhanced understanding

→ Conflict resolution

→ Increased trust

→ Increased rapport

9) Types of sentences (according to structure and according to function)

The four types of sentences according to functions are declarative, interrogative, imperative, exclamatory.

• While the ~~four~~^{three} types of sentences according to structure are simple, compound and complex.

• Sentence type based on function :-

• Declarative sentence: Makes a statement, providing information and usually ending with a period. 10)

• Interrogative sentences: Ask a question, typically ending with a question mark.

• Imperative sentences: Gives a command or instructions, often with an implied subject 'you'.

• Exclamatory sentences: Expresses strong emotions like surprise or excitement often ending with an exclamation mark.

Date: _____

Day: _____

•) Sentences types based on structure:

• Simple sentences: Contains only one independent clause, expressing a single complete thought.

• Compound sentences: Contains two or more independent clause joined by coordinating conjunctions like 'and', 'but' or 'or'.

• Complex sentences: Contains one independent clause and at least one dependent clause like 'because', 'although' or 'when'.

S/Q.

Communicative grammar - Communicative competence

Q.

Is a teaching method that focuses on the ability to communicate effectively. It involves listening, responding and transmitting a message.

How is communicative grammar taught?

- It integrates language structures into the four skills of language: listening, speaking, reading and writing.
- It practices structures orally and in written form.
- It ensures fluency and appropriateness in authentic communication.
- It emphasizes learning grammar through meaningful communication.

What does it include?

- It includes all functions required to communicate effectively.
- It includes the way in which we order words to create phrases, clauses and sentences.

Date: _____

Day: _____

- It includes word structures (morphology) such as adding an 's' to the word 'dog' to create the plural 'dogs'.

What are some types of communication?

Verbal communication, ~~non~~ non-verbal communication, written communication, listening, visual communication and asynchronous communication.

S/D Sentences structure:-

Sentence structure is the order of words and punctuation in a sentence. It refers to how independent and dependent clauses are combined.

Four types of sentences

Simple	Complex	Compound	Compound-complex
1) One independent clause	1) Two independent clauses.	1) One independent and one dependent clause.	1) At least two independent and one dependent clause.
2) e.g. "I love dogs."	2) e.g. "I love dogs, and I appreciate cats."	2) e.g. "Because I'm cultured, I love dogs."	2) e.g. "Because I'm cultured, I love dogs and I appreciate cats."

S/Q

Cross cultural (gender)

Cross cultural means involving two or more cultures or countries. It can refer to communication, research, training or comparison. Cross cultural understanding is essential in a global economy.

* Communication:

- The process of interacting with people from different cultures.
- Involves verbal and non-verbal communication.
- Considers differences in beliefs and norms.
- A dialogue or any kind of interaction b/w people of different nationalities.

* Research:

- A type of study that uses the same methods and tools in different countries.
- Explains the consequences of these differences.

* Comparison:

- A method used in social sciences to study and compare individuals from different countries or ethnic groups.
- Understands similarities and differences across cultures.

* Training:

- Helps employees with international business communication and collaboration.
- For e.g. cross-border business training.

S/Q

Production of speech sounds (human sounds):

The production of speech sound involves the following steps:-

- 1) Breathing: Air is drawn into the lungs via the nostrils or mouth.

2) Phonation: The vocal cords vibrate to create sound waves.

3) Articulation: The sound waves are altered by the tongue, lips, teeth and palate to ~~create~~ various speech sounds.

4) Resonance: The modified sound waves are enhanced and shaped by the vocal tract, which includes the mouth, nose and sinuses.

Certain important organs that contribute to the production of speech sounds are:-

- 1) Vocal cords
- 2) Tongue
- 3) Lips
- 4) Teeth
- 5) Palate
- 6) Nose
- 7) Sinuses

S/Q Define communication?

It is the process of exchanging information, ideas, thoughts or feelings b/w individuals or groups through mediums to achieve understanding and mutual comprehension.

S/Q Importance of communication?

Communication is important because it helps people share information and build relationship. It can help avoid misunderstandings and conflicts and can lead to better teamwork and productivity.

Why communication is important because

- team building
- Innovation
- Strong management
- Relationship
- Communication efficiency.

How to communicate effectively?

- Communicate openly, clearly and with empathy.
- Be a good listener.
- Share positive feelings about your partner.
- Act early if you are having difficulties.
- Be mindful of tone.
- Knowing your audience.
- Use appropriate body language.
- Concise in your message.
- Maintaining eye contact.

3/0 Components of communication?

- | | |
|----------------|---|
| 1) Feedback | 9) Interference |
| 2) Message | 10) Receiver |
| 3) Receiver | 10) Communicating effectively |
| 4) Encoding | 11) Ideas |
| 5) Channel | 12) Sender |
| 6) Context | 13) Noise |
| 7) Medium | 14) Source |
| 8) Environment | 15) The receiver provides feedback if possible. |

Q. Kinds of communication?

There are several types of communication, including:-

- 1) Verbal: Involve listening to someone to understand their meaning.
- 2) Nonverbal: Involve observing someone and inferring meaning, such as through facial expressions.
- 3) Written: Involves reading someone's meaning, such as through books, letters and blogs.
- 4) Interpersonal: Involves spoken communication b/w two or more people, either in person or on the phone.
- 5) Active listening: Involves listening to someone to understand their meaning and intent which require concentration.
- 6) Mass: Involves using mass media to reach a large audience, such as through television, radio, newspaper and the internet.
- 7) Intrapersonal: Involves communication that occurs internally, such as self-talk, imagination or recall.
- 8) Social media: Involves using social media to promote messages to external consumers.

S/O Interpersonal and Intrapersonal

communication:-

Interpersonal

Intrapersonal

1) Involves the exchange of ideas, information, or self-talk that occurs and messages b/w two or more people.

2) Can happen in person, online, over the phone or in writing.

3) Example include chatting with a friend, sharing thoughts in a group.

4) It relies on verbal and non verbal interactions

1) Includes thoughts, feelings and assessments.

2) Example include writing a diary or praying.

3) It relies on self-reflection and internal dialogue.

Date: _____

Day: _____

S/O Verbal and non-verbal

Verbal

- 1) It is the exchange of information by words.
- 2) It is less time consuming process.
- 3) It is easy to understand.
- 4) It is more consistent in nature.
- 5) It has legal evidence.

non-verbal

- 1) It is the exchange of information without words.
- 2) It is more time consuming process.
- 3) It is difficult to understand.
- 4) It is the lack of consistent in nature.
- 5) It has no documentary evidence.

Introduction

- Word-formation is a branch of lexicology which studies the process of building new words, derivative structures and patterns of existing words.

The main types of Word- Formation

- Borrowing
- Compounding
- Derivation
- Clipping
- Invention
- Acronymy
- Back-formation
- Reduplication
- Echoism
- Antonomasia

Borrowing

- Borrowing: the process of taking words from other languages.

No.	English Word	Source Language
1	Bazaar	Persian
2	Sheikh	Arabic
3	Piano	Italian

Compounding

- Compounding: is simply the joining of two or more words into a single words. (stageberg norman)
- Compounding: the process of combining two (or more) words to form a new word. (george yule)

Word 1	Word 2	compounding water	bed	Waterbed
sun	roof	sunroof
full	time.	full-time.

Derivation

- Derivation: is the forming of new words by combining derivational affixes or bound bases with existing words.(Stageberg Norman)

Affix or bound	existing words	Derivation
un	happy	unhappy
Tele	play	Teleplay

Clipping

- Clipping: means cutting off the beginning or the end of a word, or both, leaving a part to stand for the whole.
- Exam= examination

Invention

- Invention: Now and then new words are totally invented like kodak, nylon, dingbat

Nylon

Dingbat

PUACP

Acronymy

- Acronymy: is the process whereby a word is formed from the initials or beginning segments of a succession of words.

radar

radio detecting and ranging

NATO

(North Atlantic Treaty Organization),

Back-formation

- Backformation: the process of reducing a word such as a noun to a shorter version and using it as a new word such as a verb (e.g. babysit from babysitter)

Reduplication

- Reduplication: is the process of forming a new word by doubling a morpheme, usually with a change of vowel or initial consonant;
- Hanky-panky
- 1-The base morpheme is repeated without change, as in clop-clop, tick-tick.
- 2-The base morpheme is repeated with a change of initial consonant, as in: fuddy-duddy, razzle-dazzle.
- 3-The base morpheme is repeated with a change of vowel, as in chitchat, tiptop, criss-cross.

Echoism

- Echoism : is the formation of words whose sounds suggests their meaning . it is divided into natural like the roar of a water, or artificial like clang of a bell.

Antonomasia

- It means the formation of a common noun, verb or adjective from the name of a person or place.
- hamburger = Hamburg
- Samun : Written sources say that the Iraqis knew Samun for the first time in 1920 after the fall of the Ottoman Empire and during the British occupation, when one of the British workers entering with the British soldiers (and his name was Simon) brought an oven with him and made bread, and since that time it was named after its owner, but the word was distorted to Samoun.