

Q.5. Read the given passage below and attempt the questions given at the end: (10 marks)

Education brings a lot of benefits to society. Educated people can easily understand their rights and duties in society, and can act for the good of others and of themselves. For example, a well-educated person will not like to break a rule of traffic when he reads it on a road crossing while driving his vehicle. He will realize that if he breaks the rule knowing it to be very much there, others looking at him would also like to break it, and it might result in dangerous accidents on roads. Educated person can follow the programmes of political parties in general elections and can vote wisely and properly. They cannot easily be deceived by clever politicians at all. They vote as they think in the best interest of the country and the nation, and thus they select the most suitable candidates for their assemblies. Educated people are better workers than illiterate people in factories and on farms. They can learn easily how to work new machines according to new methods in factories and farms, thus they can easily increase the production of things and daily use and of good grains. We should therefore, try to educate our people as early as possible. It would be very good indeed to have adult education fit in our cities, towns, villages. If our resources permit, we may also introduce compulsory universal education up to Matric.

a) Briefly tell the benefits of education?

b) How should we educate people?

c) How can education play a role in electing good politicians?

d) How can education help us to increase the production on farms and factories?

e) Write a precis of this passage and suggest a suitable title of the passage.

Answer Key:

a) The benefits of education include understanding rights and duties in society, acting for the good of oneself and others, being able to follow political programs and vote wisely, avoiding accidents, and being better workers in factories and on farms. b) People should be educated as early as possible, and adult education should be available in cities, towns, and villages. Compulsory universal education up to Matric could also be introduced if resources permit. c) Education can help people to vote wisely and select suitable candidates for assemblies. Educated individuals are less likely to be deceived by clever politicians. d) Education can help increase production in factories and on farms by allowing workers to easily learn new methods and work with new machines. e) The passage discusses the benefits of education, including understanding rights and duties in society, being able to vote wisely, avoiding accidents, and being better workers. It suggests that people should be educated as early as possible, and that adult education should be available in cities, towns, and villages. The title "The Importance of Education in Society" could be appropriate.

Vocabulary:

- Attract: To draw towards something
- Allure: To attract or entice someone
- Abhor: To detest or hate something
- Destructive: Causing damage or harm
- Deadly: Causing or capable of causing death Peaceful: Calm and without conflict
- Transition: The process of changing from one state to another
- Movement: The act of changing position or location Affirm: To confirm or declare something as true
- Mediate: To intervene between two parties to facilitate a resolution
- Accidental: Happening by chance or unintentionally

- Evident: Clear and obvious
- Spirited: Full of energy and enthusiasm
- Sociable: Fond of company and socializing with others
- Happy: Feeling or showing pleasure or contentment
- Vivid: Bright and intense in color or detail
- Obscure: Not clear or easily understood
- Blur: To become unclear or indistinct Strikingly
- bright: Extremely vivid and attention-grabbing
- Dull: Lacking brightness or interest
- Twist: To turn or bend something out of shape
- Convert: To change something from one form or function to another
- Resist: To withstand or oppose something
- Criticize: To express disapproval or negative judgment towards something
- Bibliography: A list of sources used in a scholarly work
- History: The study of past events and human affairs
- Writers: People who write books, stories, or other literary works
- Samples: A small portion of something used to represent the whole
- Cloister: A secluded place, often associated with religious seclusion
- Home: A place where one lives and feels comfortable and secure
- Room: A space within a building enclosed by walls, floor, and ceiling
- Agile: Able to move quickly and easily
- Active: Engaging in physical or mental activity
- Passive: Accepting or allowing what happens without active response or resistance
- Lazy: Disinclined to exert oneself physically or mentally
- Stubborn: Refusing to change one's mind or course of action
- Bawdy: Humorously indecent or vulgar
- Lewd: Obscene or indecent in a sexual way
- Happy: Feeling or showing pleasure or contentment
- Innocent: Not guilty of a crime or offense, or lacking knowledge or understanding of something
- Wise/Rationalism: Having or showing experience, knowledge, and good judgment.

Certainly! Here are a few lines that can be used as a general paragraph starter for any given topic:

1. The topic of [insert topic here] is a complex and multifaceted subject that has been studied and debated by scholars and experts for many years.
2. In recent years, there has been an increasing interest in [insert topic here] as more and more people recognize the importance of understanding and addressing the challenges and opportunities related to this area.
3. When it comes to [insert topic here], there are a wide range of opinions and perspectives, each with its own set of arguments and evidence to support it.
4. From a historical perspective, [insert topic here] has evolved and changed over time, reflecting the influence of social, cultural, economic, and political factors.
5. While there is still much to learn and discover about [insert topic here], current research and insights offer valuable insights and perspectives on this fascinating subject.
6. As we continue to explore and engage with [insert topic here], it is important to keep an open mind and be willing to consider different viewpoints and approaches.

7. Ultimately, the study of [insert topic here] has the potential to shed light on important aspects of human behavior, society, and the world around us, providing us with a deeper understanding of ourselves and our place in the world.

Write a few lines that can be used generally in every essay on any given topic:

Certainly! Here are a few lines that can be used as a general introduction to an essay on any topic:

1. The topic of [insert topic here] has been the subject of much discussion and debate in recent years, as people around the world grapple with the challenges and opportunities presented by this complex and multifaceted issue.
2. From the earliest times to the present day, [insert topic here] has played a critical role in shaping human society and culture, and continues to exert a profound influence on the way we live our lives.
3. Whether through scientific research, political discourse, or artistic expression, [insert topic here] has captured the imagination and attention of people across the globe, inspiring curiosity, creativity, and innovation.
4. As we confront the complex challenges of the modern world, the study of [insert topic here] is more important than ever, providing us with new insights and perspectives on the challenges we face and the opportunities that lie ahead.
5. While there is still much to learn and discover about [insert topic here], current research and thinking offer valuable insights and perspectives on this fascinating and ever-evolving subject.
6. Ultimately, the study of [insert topic here] has the potential to deepen our understanding of ourselves, our world, and our place in it, inspiring us to work together to create a better, more just, and more sustainable future.

Q. No.2 Give short answers of five of these questions. (4*5:20) 1) Difference Between formal and unformed speech. 2) What is coherent and why are important. 3) Analyzing your audience is important in presentation. Comment. 4) What are the common ways of establishing credibility while organizing a business message? 5) Explain 'acronyms' with the help of examples. 6) How does Editing help to improve a document? 7) How des alternatives in help in a negative message?

1. Formal speech is more structured, follows a specific set of rules, and is often used in professional settings. Informal speech is more relaxed, flexible, and casual, often used in personal conversations.
2. Coherence refers to the logical and clear organization of ideas in a text or speech, making it easy for the audience to understand the message. It is important because it improves the effectiveness of communication.
3. Analyzing your audience helps you to tailor your presentation to their interests, needs, and expectations, making it more engaging and effective.
4. Common ways of establishing credibility in a business message include using credible sources, using specific and verifiable data, highlighting personal expertise or experience, and showing empathy and understanding.
5. Acronyms are abbreviations formed from the first letter of each word in a phrase or title. Examples include NASA (National Aeronautics and Space Administration) and ASAP (As Soon As Possible).
6. Editing helps to improve a document by identifying and correcting errors in grammar, spelling, punctuation, and syntax. It also helps to improve the clarity and coherence of the message.
7. Alternatives can help to soften the impact of a negative message and show empathy towards the recipient. For example, instead of saying "We can't offer you a refund," you can say "We can offer you a credit towards a future purchase."

Q.No. 1 Select the appropriate option. (I=10) 1-what is the last thing you need to do before you get ready to distribute your document? a) Designing b) Revising c) Proofreading d) All of the above 2- Claim letter is also called. a) Transmittal letter b) Credit refusing letter c) Adjustment letter d) Complaint letter 3- Which word in the following sentence should contain an apostrophe? Phillipe cannot go to her friends party because her parents have no cars. a) can 'not b) parents' c) friend's d)car,s 4-Claim letter is also called: a) Transmittal letter c) Adjustment letter 5-If your message is specific, definite and vivid; which of the following principle has been applied? a) Completeness b) correctness c) conciseness d) concreteness 6- which of the following suggests the following statement? , First group the ideas and then put them in sequence." a) Revising a message c) Organizing a message 7-Which of the following significantly improves the interest of a presentation? a) Illustration b) Visual aids c) image d) Reflection 8- Which one of these words is not a synonym for, business, a) Capital b) enterprise c) project d) venture 9- In which of the following bars are replaced by drawings that represent the thing described? a) Bar graphs b) Line Graphs c) pictographs d) photographs 10-which of the following presents the main idea before the supporting data? a) Strategic plan b) indirect plan c) Direct plan d) Business plan

1. c) Proofreading
2. d) Complaint letter
3. c) friend's
4. c) Adjustment letter
5. d) concreteness
6. c) Organizing a message
7. b) Visual aids
8. d) venture
9. c) photographs
10. c) Direct plan

(A) Encircle the correct answer.

- i. The most important goal of business communication is
 - a. Favorable relationship between sender and receiver
 - b. Organizational good will
 - c. Receiver response
 - d. Receiver understanding
- ii. Horizontal communication takes place between
 - a. Superior r to subordinate
 - b. Subordinate to superior
 - c. Employees with same status
 - d. None of these
- iii. An effective oral presentation has-----part.
 - a. 2
 - b.3
 - c.4
 - d. 5
- iv. Form letters are also known as
 - a. Circular letters
 - b. Formal letters
 - c. Bad news letters
 - d. Persuasive sales letters
- v. In block text format, you do not _each paragraph.

- a. indent
- b. Punctuate
- c. Margin
- d. Transition
- vi. The -----of business letter is called layout.
 - a. Body
 - b. Content
 - c. Pattern
 - d. All of the above
- vii. A memorandum (memo) is considered a brief form of written communication for:
 - a. internal use
 - b. External use
 - c. Formal use
 - d. Legal use
- viii. When a group agrees to support and commit to the decision of the group, they have reached
 - a. A consensus
 - b. A census
 - c. A analysis
 - d. A solution
- ix. Attempt to know the gist of the text is known as
 - a. Skimming
 - b. inference
 - c. 3 SQR
 - d. Scanning
- x. Our address and phone numbers are shown on
 - a. Letter head
 - b. Snail mail
 - c. Postage
 - d. Salutation

Answer Key:

- i. d. Receiver understanding
- ii. c. Employees with same status
- iii. b. 3
- iv. a. Circular letters
- v. a. indent vi. c. Pattern
- vi. a. internal use viii. a. A consensus
- vii. a. Skimming
- viii. a. Letterhead

Q. Choose one option only. (MCQS) (1x10=10):

I. A combination of two or more entities that together form something new is called:

- i. Comprehension ii) Understanding iii) Synthesis iv) Observation

II. The significant procedure of academic writing is:

- i) Logic ii) Argument (iii) Question iv) Critical analysis

III. Weak or flawed argument against your thesis is:

- i. Reasoning ii. Strawman technique iii. Reforming iv. Evaluation

IV. The modern technique SQ3R stands for:

- i. Sequence-quantity-reading-removing-repeat
- ii. Survey-question-read-recite-review

iii. Synopsis-query-remember-rewrite-revise

iv. Sum up-quest-recall-recite-read

V. Topic sentence outlines-----for paragraph

i. Example ii) Statement iii) Argument iv) Boundary

V. A document that convey facts, ideas, and information is:

- i. Report writing ii) Essay iii) Parable iv) Documentary
- Vii. Metaphorical language is used in:
 - i. Argumentative essay ii) explanatory essay iii) Expository essay iv) descriptive essay
- VIII. A type of essay that informs, describes; explains is:
 - i. Narrative ii. Argumentative iii. Informative iv. Expository
- IX. The process of reading only main ideas within a passage to get an overall impression of the content
 - i. Scanning ii. Skimming iii. Reviewing iv. Surveying
- X. To refer or to cite an author in your writing is:
 - i. References ii) Appendix iii) Bibliography iv) In-text citation

Answers:

- iii) Synthesis II.
- ii) Argument III. ii. Strawman technique IV. ii) Survey-question-read-recite-review V. ii) Statement VI. i) Report writing VII. iv) Descriptive essay VIII. iv. Expository IX. ii. Skimming X. iv) In-text citation

Q2. Write short answers to the following questions. What are the sections in which short report is divided? What is the difference between synthesis and analysis? How references can be differentiated from in-text-citation? What do you understand by topic sentence and supporting sentence? Write any four basic principles of writing a report.

Answers:

1. Short reports are typically divided into three main sections: introduction, body, and conclusion. The introduction provides background information on the topic and states the purpose of the report, while the body presents the findings and analysis, and the conclusion summarizes the key points and makes recommendations.
2. Synthesis involves combining multiple ideas or pieces of information to create a new whole. Analysis involves breaking down a complex idea or concept into its component parts to understand how it works.
3. References are a list of sources cited in a document, typically appearing at the end of the work. In-text citations refer to a specific source within the body of the text, usually appearing in parentheses with the author's name and year of publication.
4. The topic sentence is the main idea or point of a paragraph, typically found at the beginning of the paragraph. Supporting sentences provide additional information or evidence to support the topic sentence.
5. Four basic principles of writing a report are:
 - Clarity: The report should be easy to read and understand.
 - Conciseness: The report should convey information efficiently, without unnecessary details or repetition
 - Accuracy: The report should present information that is reliable and correct.
 - Objectivity: The report should be free from personal bias or opinions.

Q3. Write brief answers to the following. Describe the Academic Reading Strategies in detail. Write a paragraph on the topic ('Women Empowerment')

Answers:

Academic Reading Strategies refer to techniques used to effectively read and understand complex academic texts. Some common strategies include:

Previewing the text before reading, to get a sense of the main ideas and structure.

Annotating the text while reading, to take notes and highlight key points.

Summarizing each section or paragraph in your own words, to ensure understanding.

Asking questions and making connections to other texts or prior knowledge.

Reviewing the text after reading, to reinforce understanding and identify areas that may need further clarification.

Women empowerment refers to the process of providing women with the resources and tools they need to achieve social, economic, and political equality. This can include access to education, healthcare, and job opportunities, as well as the ability to participate in decision-making processes at all levels of society. Women empowerment is an important goal because it not only benefits individual women but also contributes to the overall development of society. When women are empowered, they are better able to contribute to economic growth, improve the health and well-being of their families, and promote social and political stability.

What is scanning while reading? Describe briefly?

Scanning is a reading technique that involves quickly moving your eyes over a text to find specific information. When scanning, you are not reading every word or sentence, but rather looking for keywords or phrases that will help you locate the information you need.

To scan a text effectively, it's important to have a clear idea of what you're looking for. This could be a specific name, date, or piece of information that you need to find quickly. You can then move your eyes rapidly over the text, stopping briefly at each section that might contain the information you're looking for. Scanning is a useful technique when you need to find information quickly, such as when you're looking for a phone number in a directory or searching for a specific section in a textbook. However, it is not a technique that is useful for understanding complex or nuanced information, as it does not involve in-depth reading and comprehension.

What are the common errors while reading?

There are several common errors that people can make while reading, including:

1. Skipping words or lines: This can happen when the reader's eyes jump ahead, causing them to miss important information.
2. Mispronouncing words: This can occur when the reader is unfamiliar with a particular word or when they incorrectly apply a pronunciation rule.
3. Losing concentration: This happens when the reader's mind wanders, and they lose focus on the text.
4. Reading too slowly: This can occur when the reader is struggling to comprehend the text or when they are unfamiliar with the vocabulary.
5. Making assumptions: This happens when the reader assumes they know what the text is saying without fully reading and comprehending it.
6. Lack of comprehension: This can occur when the reader does not fully understand the text or its context.

It's important to be aware of these common errors to avoid them and to improve your reading skills.

Practicing active reading techniques, such as taking notes or highlighting important information, can also help improve comprehension and prevent errors.

Define tropical and supportive sentences used in the paragraph?

Tropical sentences are those that provide vivid, sensory descriptions that appeal to the reader's senses. These sentences often use figurative language such as metaphors, similes, and personification to create a rich, imaginative image in the reader's mind. For example, "The sun beat down on the sand like a fiery hammer."

Supportive sentences, on the other hand, provide additional information or details that support the main idea of the paragraph. They help to clarify or expand upon the main point and may provide examples, evidence, or explanations. For example, "The hot, humid climate of the tropics makes it a popular destination for tourists seeking warm weather and exotic landscapes." This sentence provides additional information about the main idea of the paragraph, which is the appeal of tropical destinations.

What are the tips to write down an effective paragraph?

Here are some tips for writing an effective paragraph:

1. Start with a clear topic sentence: Your paragraph should have a clear and concise topic sentence that clearly states the main idea you are discussing in the paragraph.
2. Provide supporting details: Use specific examples, evidence, or explanations to support the main idea of your paragraph. This will help to clarify and reinforce your point.
3. Use transitional words and phrases: Use transitional words and phrases to connect sentences and ideas within the paragraph. This helps to create a smooth and logical flow of ideas.

Here's an example of how to use transitional words and phrases to connect sentences and ideas within a paragraph:

Original Paragraph: I love to travel. I've been to many different countries, including France, Italy, and Spain. Each country has its own unique culture and traditions. I especially enjoyed trying the different foods in each place.

Improved Paragraph: I love to travel. In fact, I've been to many different countries around the world. For instance, I've visited France, Italy, and Spain, each with its own unique culture and traditions. One of my favorite things to do while traveling is to try the local cuisine. From croissants and escargot in France to pizza and gelato in Italy and tapas in Spain, I've enjoyed sampling the delicious foods in each country. By using transitional words and phrases like "In fact", "For instance", and "From...to", I was able to connect the sentences and ideas more smoothly and create a more logical flow of ideas within the paragraph.

4. Vary your sentence structure: Use a variety of sentence structures, including simple, compound, and complex sentences. This will help to keep your writing interesting and engaging.
 5. Use active voice: Write in the active voice, which is more direct and engaging than the passive voice. This helps to create a stronger connection between the reader and your writing.
 6. Edit and revise: Finally, make sure to edit and revise your paragraph carefully. Check for grammar and spelling errors, and make sure that your ideas are presented clearly and effectively.
- By following these tips, you can write a clear, well-organized, and effective paragraph that effectively communicates your ideas to your reader.

PAPER: English-III (Communication Skills)

Course Code: ENG-211/21104 Part-II

ATTEMPT THIS (SUBJECTIVE) ON THE SEPARATE ANSWER SHEET PROVIDED

MAX. TIME: 2 Hrs. 45 Min.

MAX. MARKS: 50

QUESTIONS WITH SHORT ANSWERS

Q.2. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given at the end. (20)

To be a good teacher, you need some of the gifts of a good actor. You must be able to hold the attention and interest of your audience; you must be a clear speaker with a good pleasing voice and you must be able to act when you are teaching in order to make its meanings clear. Watch a good teacher, you will see he does not sit motionless before his class; he stands the whole time he is teaching; and he walks about using his arms, hands and finger's to help him in his explanation and his face to express his feelings. Listen to him and you will hear the loudness, the quality and the musical note of his voice always changing according to what he is teaching. But the fact that a good teacher has some of the gifts of a good actor does not mean that he will indeed be able to act on-the-stage, for there are very important differences between the teachers' work and actors' work. The actor has to speak words which he has learnt by heart, he has to repeat certain dialogues which he has learnt earliest. Even his movements and the ways in which he uses his voice are usually fixed-before. The good teacher works in a different way because his audiences take an active part in his play. They ask questions, and if they do not understand something, they will say so. So the teacher has to suit his act to the need of his audience that is his class. I know many teachers who were fine actors in the class but were unable to take part in a stage play because their brains would not keep strictly to what another had written.

Questions:

- 1- Suggest a suitable title for the passage.
- 2- What is the difference between a good teacher and a good actor?
- 3- What is the role of teacher in nation building?
- 4- How can a good teacher be compared to a good actor?
- 5- Who, according to you, is a good teacher?
- 6- Make a precis of the above passage.

Answers:

1. Title: The Similarities and Differences between Good Teachers and Good Actors.
2. The main difference between a good teacher and a good actor is that the actor has to speak words which he has learnt by heart, he has to repeat certain dialogues which he has learnt earliest, whereas the good teacher has to suit his act to the need of his audience that is his class, which takes an active part in his play.
3. A good teacher plays an essential role in nation building as they have the power to shape the minds of the future generation. A teacher's guidance and mentorship can help in producing responsible citizens who can contribute positively to society.

4. A good teacher and a good actor share some similar qualities, such as the ability to hold the attention and interest of their audience, clear speaking with a good pleasing voice, and acting when teaching to make the meaning clear. However, the difference lies in the fact that a good teacher has to tailor his act to the needs of his audience, which is not the case for a good actor.
5. A good teacher is someone who can engage and inspire their students, create a positive and inclusive learning environment, and adapt their teaching style to meet the needs of individual students.
6. Precis: A good teacher shares some of the qualities of a good actor, such as the ability to hold attention, clear speaking, and acting when teaching to make the meaning clear. However, there are differences between their works, as the good teacher must tailor their teaching to the needs of their audience. A good teacher plays an essential role in nation building by shaping the minds of the future generation to become responsible citizens.

QUESTIONS WITH BRIEF ANSWERS

Q.3. Write three connected paragraphs on women empowerment.

(10)

Women empowerment is a critical issue that has gained global attention over the past few decades. It refers to the process of granting women equal rights and opportunities in all aspects of life, including social, economic, political, and educational. Empowering women means enabling them to realize their full potential, participate fully in decision-making processes, and lead fulfilling lives. Women empowerment is not just a matter of justice and fairness; it is also an essential step towards creating a more prosperous and sustainable future for all.

One of the most significant benefits of women empowerment is the economic growth and development it can generate. Women represent an enormous untapped potential in the global economy, and empowering them can lead to increased productivity, innovation, and creativity. When women are given equal access to education, training, and employment opportunities, they can contribute significantly to the growth and development of their families, communities, and nations. Empowering women can also lead to greater gender equality, which is essential for achieving sustainable development.

However, women empowerment is not just about increasing economic opportunities for women. It also involves addressing gender-based violence, discrimination, and harmful cultural practices that prevent women from realizing their full potential. Empowering women requires creating a supportive environment that enables them to make choices freely, access critical services and resources, and participate fully in decision-making processes. This can be achieved through policies and programs that promote gender equality, address gender-based violence, and challenge harmful gender norms and stereotypes. Ultimately, women empowerment is essential for creating a more just, equitable, and sustainable world for all.

Where is the topic sentence, thesis statement and general statement in this paragraph? Where the unified sentences or unified paragraphs in the given paragraphs?

The topic sentence of this paragraph is "Women empowerment is a critical issue that has gained global attention over the past few decades." The thesis statement is "Empowering women means enabling them to realize their full potential, participate fully in decision-making processes, and lead fulfilling lives. Women empowerment is not just a matter of justice and fairness; it is also an essential step towards creating a more prosperous and sustainable future for all."

The general statement in this paragraph is that women empowerment is a critical issue that involves granting women equal rights and opportunities in all aspects of life. The unified sentences in this paragraph are related to the different aspects of women empowerment, such as economic growth, addressing gender-based violence and discrimination, and creating a supportive environment for women to make choices freely.

The first paragraph introduces the topic of women empowerment and defines what it means. The second paragraph discusses the economic benefits of women empowerment and how it can lead to increased productivity, innovation, and creativity. The third paragraph highlights the importance of addressing gender-based violence and discrimination and creating a supportive environment for women to realize their full potential. The overall theme of the three connected paragraphs is that women empowerment is essential for creating a just, equitable, and sustainable world for all.

The first paragraph can be considered a unified paragraph as it introduces the topic of women empowerment, defines what it means, and states its significance in creating a prosperous and sustainable future for all.

The second paragraph is also a unified paragraph as it focuses on one of the significant benefits of women empowerment, which is the economic growth and development it can generate. It explains how empowering women can lead to increased productivity, innovation, and creativity, and highlights the potential contributions of women to their families, communities, and nations.

The third paragraph is also a unified paragraph as it addresses another aspect of women empowerment, which is the need to address gender-based violence, discrimination, and harmful cultural practices. It emphasizes the importance of creating a supportive environment for women to make choices freely and participate fully in decision-making processes, and outlines some of the policies and programs that can be implemented to promote gender equality and challenge harmful gender norms and stereotypes.

There are several unified sentences in these three paragraphs.

For example:

"Empowering women means enabling them to realize their full potential, participate fully in decision-making processes, and lead fulfilling lives" is a unified sentence in the first paragraph.

"When women are given equal access to education, training, and employment opportunities, they can contribute significantly to the growth and development of their families, communities, and nations" is a unified sentence in the second paragraph.

"Empowering women requires creating a supportive environment that enables them to make choices freely, access critical services and resources, and participate fully in decision-making processes" is a unified sentence in the third paragraph.

Unified sentences are those that express a single idea or focus on a single topic, helping to create coherence and clarity within a paragraph or passage.

Notes for students:

Topic: Women Empowerment Length: Three connected paragraphs Purpose: To discuss the importance of women empowerment and its benefits

Paragraph 1:

- Define women empowerment
- Mention that it has gained global attention over the past few decades
- Explain that women empowerment means granting women equal rights and opportunities in all aspects of life
- Mention that it is essential for creating a more prosperous and sustainable future for all

Paragraph 2:

- Explain the economic benefits of women empowerment
- Mention that women represent an enormous untapped potential in the global economy
- Explain that empowering women can lead to increased productivity, innovation, and creativity
- Explain how empowering women can contribute significantly to the growth and development of families, communities, and nations

Paragraph 3:

- Mention that women empowerment is not just about economic opportunities
- Explain that it involves addressing gender-based violence, discrimination, and harmful cultural practices
- Mention that empowering women requires creating a supportive environment that enables them to make choices freely
- Explain how this can be achieved through policies and programs that promote gender equality, address gender-based violence, and challenge harmful gender norms and stereotypes

Overall, the three paragraphs should provide a comprehensive overview of women empowerment, its benefits, and the various issues that need to be addressed to achieve it.

Q.4 Write a letter to the District Health Officer about the lack of medical facilities in Government Hospital/Dispensaries of your district.

(10)

March 14, 2023

The District Health Officer,
City A.B.C.

Subject: Lack of medical facilities in Government Hospital/Dispensaries

Dear Sir,

I am writing this letter to bring to your attention the lack of medical facilities in the Government Hospital and Dispensaries of our district. As a concerned citizen, I have personally witnessed the dire situation of these health facilities and the impact it has on the lives of patients.

The Government Hospital and Dispensaries are the primary healthcare providers for a vast majority of the population in our district. However, these facilities lack basic medical equipment and supplies, and the staff is often overburdened and under-resourced. Patients are forced to wait for hours or even days to receive treatment, and in some cases, they are turned away due to the unavailability of necessary medical supplies and equipment.

This lack of medical facilities in our district is a matter of great concern, especially in times of emergencies and outbreaks. The absence of essential medical supplies and equipment poses a significant risk to the health and wellbeing of the community. Therefore, I urge you to take immediate action to address this issue and ensure that the Government Hospital and Dispensaries in our district are adequately equipped with necessary medical supplies and equipment.

I hope you will take this matter seriously and take appropriate steps to improve the medical facilities in our district. Thank you in anticipation.

Yours truly,
X.Y.Z.

Here are some notes for students to consider when writing a letter about the lack of medical facilities in Government hospitals/dispensaries:

1. Begin with a formal greeting and introduction: Start the letter by addressing the District Health Officer in a formal manner and introduce yourself as a concerned citizen.
2. State the purpose of the letter: Clearly state the reason for writing the letter, which is to bring attention to the lack of medical facilities in government hospitals/dispensaries in the district.
3. Provide specific details/ define purpose: Describe the specific issues related to the lack of medical facilities in the government hospitals/dispensaries. Be specific about the kinds of medical facilities that are missing, the impact on the local community, and any other relevant details.
4. Use examples: Use examples to illustrate the impact of the lack of medical facilities. For instance, you could share stories of people who have suffered due to the lack of medical facilities.
5. Define Problems:
6. Suggest possible solutions: Provide some possible solutions to the issue, such as hiring more medical staff, increasing the budget for medical facilities, or improving the infrastructure of the hospitals/dispensaries.
7. Suggestions/Recommendations
8. End the letter on a positive note: End the letter by expressing gratitude for the District Health Officer's attention to the matter and hoping for a positive outcome.
9. Use a formal tone: Use a formal tone throughout the letter and avoid using slang or informal language.
10. Proofread and edit: Review the letter carefully for errors in grammar, spelling, and punctuation, and make any necessary edits before submitting it.
11. By following these guidelines, students can write an effective letter that communicates their concerns about the lack of medical facilities in Government hospitals/dispensaries and suggests possible solutions.

Q.5 Write down steps for preparing an effective Oral presentation and strategies for effective

Nonverbal delivery.

(6+4)

1. Understand your audience: Consider the audience's level of expertise and interest in the topic. This will help you tailor your presentation to their needs and keep them engaged.
2. Research and organize your content: Conduct thorough research on the topic and organize the information into a clear and concise structure, including an introduction, body, and conclusion.
3. Use visual aids: Incorporate visual aids, such as slides or diagrams, to support your presentation and make it more engaging.
4. Practice, practice, practice: Practice your presentation multiple times to become comfortable with the content and delivery. Time yourself to ensure you don't exceed the allotted time.
5. Be confident and enthusiastic: Show enthusiasm for your topic and be confident in your delivery. This will help keep your audience engaged and interested.

Or

1. Define your purpose and audience: Determine the purpose of your presentation and identify your target audience. This will help you tailor your message to the needs and interests of your audience.
2. Develop a clear structure: Create a logical and well-organized structure for your presentation, with a clear introduction, main points, and conclusion.
3. Research and gather information: Conduct thorough research and gather relevant data, examples, and evidence to support your main points.
4. Create effective visual aids: Use visual aids such as slides, charts, or diagrams to enhance your message and make it more engaging for your audience.
5. Practice your delivery: Rehearse your presentation multiple times to become comfortable with the material and to ensure that your delivery is smooth and confident.
6. Seek feedback: Get feedback from others on your presentation to identify areas for improvement and to make necessary adjustments.

Strategies for effective nonverbal delivery:

1. Eye contact: Make eye contact with your audience to establish a connection and convey confidence.
2. Body language: Use appropriate body language to convey your message. Stand up straight, use hand gestures to emphasize points, and move around the stage to keep the audience engaged.
3. Voice tone and pace: Vary your voice tone and pace to keep the audience engaged and convey emotion. Speak clearly and avoid speaking too fast or too slow.
4. Dress appropriately: Dress appropriately for the occasion to convey professionalism and respect for the audience.
5. Pay attention to your posture: Stand or sit up straight and maintain good posture throughout your presentation to project confidence and authority.
6. Speak clearly and confidently: Use a clear and confident voice, and vary your tone and pace to keep your audience engaged.
7. Use effective visual aids: Use visual aids that are easy to see and understand, and make sure to refer to them at appropriate times during your presentation.

What are the strategies for effective verbal delivery of oral presentation?

Some strategies for effective verbal delivery of an oral presentation include:

1. Practice: Practice your presentation several times before the actual delivery to ensure that you are comfortable with the material and confident in your delivery.
2. Speak clearly: Ensure that you enunciate your words clearly and at a moderate pace so that your audience can follow along easily.
3. Vary your tone and pace: Varying your tone and pace can help keep your audience engaged and interested in your presentation.
4. Use effective pauses: Pauses can be used to emphasize important points, allow your audience to catch up, or to gather your thoughts.
5. Use visual aids: Visual aids, such as slides or handouts, can help your audience understand and remember your key points.
6. Connect with your audience: Make eye contact with your audience, use humor or personal anecdotes to engage them, and be aware of their reactions.

7. Be organized: Structure your presentation in a logical and clear manner, with a clear introduction, body, and conclusion.
8. Use effective transitions: Use transitions to smoothly move from one point to the next and to help your audience follow along.
9. Use active voice: Use active voice to make your presentation more engaging and to help your audience connect with your message.
10. Keep it concise: Keep your presentation concise and focused on your key points, and avoid getting sidetracked by unnecessary details.

What is the verbal and non-verbal Communication, explain with example?

Verbal communication refers to the use of spoken words to convey a message or information from one person to another. It includes speaking, listening, and interpreting the spoken words. Examples of verbal communication include conversations, public speeches, presentations, lectures, and interviews.

For instance, in a business meeting, verbal communication plays a crucial role in conveying important information, exchanging ideas, and making decisions. A manager may give instructions to employees, and employees may ask questions to clarify the instructions. During a job interview, a candidate may answer questions about their skills, experience, and qualifications.

Nonverbal communication refers to the use of body language, facial expressions, gestures, and tone of voice to convey a message or information. It includes the use of non-word sounds such as sighs, grunts, and laughter. Examples of nonverbal communication include eye contact, facial expressions, posture, hand gestures, and tone of voice.

For example, during a public speech, the speaker's nonverbal communication, such as their posture, hand gestures, and tone of voice, can impact the audience's perception of the speaker's credibility, confidence, and authority. In a job interview, a candidate's body language, such as their posture and eye contact, can convey their level of interest, confidence, and professionalism.

What are the types of verbal and non-verbal communication?

There are several types of verbal and nonverbal communication:

Verbal communication can be further classified into two types: written and oral. Written communication includes emails, letters, memos, reports, and other written documents. Oral communication, on the other hand, refers to spoken words, either face-to-face or over the phone. Oral communication can be further divided into formal and informal communication.

Types of verbal communication:

1. Spoken language: This refers to the use of words to communicate with others through speech. It includes the use of tone, pitch, and volume to convey meaning.
2. Written language: This involves the use of written words to convey a message. It includes letters, emails, text messages, reports, and other written forms of communication.
3. Sign language: Sign language uses hand gestures and body language to convey meaning. It is commonly used by people who are deaf or hard of hearing.

Types of nonverbal communication:

Nonverbal communication can also be classified into several types. Body language, which includes gestures, facial expressions, and posture, is a significant part of nonverbal communication. Eye contact, vocal tone, and touch are also essential elements of nonverbal communication. Other forms of nonverbal communication include clothing, accessories, and physical distance.

1. Body language: This refers to the use of physical gestures, facial expressions, and body posture to convey meaning. For example, crossing one's arms can indicate defensiveness or closed-mindedness.
2. Tone of voice: The tone of voice can convey meaning beyond the words spoken. For example, a sarcastic tone can indicate that the speaker does not really mean what they are saying.
3. Appearance: How a person presents themselves can communicate a message. This includes clothing, hairstyle, and grooming habits.
4. Touch: Touch can convey a range of meanings, from affection to aggression. For example, a pat on the back can convey approval or encouragement, while a shove can convey hostility.

It is important to note that both verbal and nonverbal communication work together to convey a message effectively. In some cases, nonverbal communication can even have a more significant impact than verbal communication. For example, a person's facial expression can convey their emotions more effectively than their words. Similarly, a speaker's tone of voice and body language can indicate their level of confidence and sincerity. Therefore, it is crucial to pay attention to both verbal and nonverbal communication to ensure effective communication.

Connected Paragraph Writing and Picture Description:

The students are required to practice paragraph writing with an emphasis on Topic sentence and supporting sentences. The students are supposed to write at least 3 connected paragraphs on a single theme (word limit: 350 words). The students are required to learn how to analyze and describe pictures in correct English.

For connected paragraph writing, it is important to have a clear and concise topic sentence that introduces the main idea of the paragraph. The supporting sentences should provide relevant details and examples to support the topic sentence. It is also important to use transitional phrases or sentences to connect the paragraphs and create a logical flow of ideas. Here is an example:

Topic sentence: Social media has revolutionized the way we communicate and share information.

Supporting sentence 1: With the rise of social media platforms such as Facebook and Twitter, people can now easily connect with others from all around the world.

Supporting sentence 2: Social media has also become a powerful tool for businesses and organizations to promote their products and services and engage with their customers.

Supporting sentence 3: However, there are concerns about the impact of social media on privacy and mental health, and it is important to use these platforms responsibly.

For picture description, it is important to start by giving a brief overview of the picture and its context. Then, describe the key elements of the picture in detail, using adjectives and sensory words to create a vivid image in the reader's mind. Here is an example:

Picture description: The picture shows a beautiful sunset over a tranquil lake in the countryside.

Overview: This picture captures the natural beauty and serenity of the countryside.

Details: The sky is painted with hues of orange, red, and pink, creating a stunning backdrop for the sun as it sinks below the horizon. The water of the lake is calm and reflective, mirroring the colors of the sky. There are a few trees in the distance, their branches silhouetted against the sky. The overall effect is one of peace and tranquility, a moment of stillness in the midst of a busy world.

Notes for students:

Connected Paragraph Writing:

- Focus on topic sentence and supporting sentences
- Write at least 3 connected paragraphs on a single theme
- Word limit: 350 words

Picture Description:

- Learn how to analyze and describe pictures
- Use correct English language

Contents:

1. Introduction

- Brief explanation of connected paragraph writing and picture description

2. Connected Paragraph Writing

- Importance of topic sentence and supporting sentences
- Tips for writing connected paragraphs
- Examples of connected paragraphs on a single theme

4. Picture Description

- Importance of analyzing and describing pictures
- Vocabulary and phrases to use in picture description
- Examples of picture descriptions in correct English

5. Conclusion

Summary of the importance of connected paragraph writing and picture description in improving English language skills

Word root method, define and example?

The word root method is a vocabulary building strategy that involves learning the meanings of common word roots or base words, which can then be used to understand and remember new words that are derived from those roots. This method is particularly useful in English, which has a large number of words that are based on Latin and Greek roots.

For example, the root "tract" means to pull or drag. From this root, we can understand the meaning of words like "attract," "detract," "extract," and "tractor," all of which have something to do with pulling or dragging. By learning the meaning of the root, we can easily understand the meaning of these new words without having to memorize each one individually.

Solved Paper-2018

QUESTIONS WITH SHORT ANSWERS

Q: - 1 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given at the end. (20)

Moral self-control, and external prohibition of harmful acts, are not adequate methods of dealing with our anarchic instincts. The reason they are inadequate is that these instincts are capable of as many disguises as the devil in medieval legend, and some of these disguises deceive even the elect. The only adequate method is to discover what are the needs of our instinctive nature, and then to search for the least harmful way of satisfying them. Since spontaneity is what is most thwarted (prevented) by machines, the only thing that can be provided is opportunity: the use made of opportunity must be left to the initiative of the individual. No doubt considerable expense would be involved: but it would not be comparable to the expense of war. Understanding of human nature must be the basis of any real improvements in human life. Science has done wonders in mastering the laws of the physical world, but our own nature is much less understood, as yet, than the nature of stars and electrons. When science. Learns to understand human nature, it will be able to bring happiness into our lives which machines and the physical sciences have failed to create

- 1- Suggest a suitable title for the passage.
- 2- What is the adequate method of dealing with our rebellious instincts?
- 3- What is the part played by opportunity?
- 4- How can we improve human life?
- 5- How can science help humanity to achieve happiness?
- 6- Make a precis of the above passage.

ANSWERS:

1. A Holistic Approach to Dealing with Anarchic Instincts
2. The adequate method of dealing with our anarchic instincts is to discover their needs and search for the least harmful way of satisfying them.
3. The only thing that can be provided to deal with our anarchic instincts is opportunity, and the use of that opportunity is left to the initiative of the individual.
4. To improve human life, we need to understand human nature and discover the needs of our instinctive nature.
5. Science can help humanity achieve happiness by learning to understand human nature and bringing real improvements to human life.
6. In this passage, the author argues that moral self-control and external prohibition are not sufficient to deal with anarchic instincts. To truly address these instincts, we need to understand their needs and find the least harmful way to satisfy them. Opportunity plays a crucial role in this process, as it allows individuals to act on their instincts in a way that is less harmful to themselves and others. Ultimately, the author argues that understanding human nature is the key to improving human life and achieving happiness, and that science has an important role to play in this endeavor.

Q:-2 write three connected paragraphs on importance of public transport.

Public transport plays a crucial role in the smooth functioning of a city's transportation system. It is an affordable and convenient mode of transportation for the public, providing an alternative to private vehicles. Public transport systems such as buses, trains, trams, and metros help reduce traffic congestion on roads and highways, making travel faster and more efficient. By reducing the number of vehicles on the road, public transport systems also contribute to lower levels of air pollution and greenhouse gas emissions.

One of the significant benefits of public transport is its affordability. Public transport is relatively cheaper than private vehicles, and it offers a cost-effective alternative for people who cannot afford to own and maintain a car. This affordability also ensures that people from all socioeconomic backgrounds have access to transportation, enabling them to reach their destinations easily. Additionally, public transport helps to reduce the financial burden on individuals by offering discounted fares, passes, and other concessions.

Public transport also plays a vital role in promoting sustainability and reducing the environmental impact of transportation. By providing an alternative to private vehicles, public transport systems can significantly reduce the amount of carbon emissions and other pollutants that are released into the air. Public transport also helps to conserve natural resources and reduce the use of fossil fuels, contributing to a cleaner and greener environment. By investing in public transport systems, cities can take a significant step towards sustainable development and a more eco-friendly future.

In conclusion, public transport is a vital component of a city's transportation system. It provides an affordable and convenient alternative to private vehicles, helps reduce traffic congestion, and promotes sustainability by reducing the environmental impact of transportation. By investing in public transport systems, cities can create a more inclusive and accessible transportation network, providing benefits to individuals, communities, and the environment as a whole.

The topic sentence in this paragraph is "Public transport plays a crucial role in the smooth functioning of a city's transportation system." It sets the main idea of the paragraph, which is to discuss the importance of public transport in a city.

The thesis statement is not explicitly stated in the paragraph, but it can be inferred from the sentences that follow the topic sentence. The paragraph argues that public transport is essential because it is affordable, convenient, and helps reduce traffic congestion and air pollution.

The general statement in this paragraph is that public transport is beneficial to society. The author provides several reasons why public transport is important, such as reducing traffic congestion and promoting sustainability.

The sentences in this paragraph are unified because they all relate to the main idea of the paragraph, which is the importance of public transport. Each sentence adds to the argument by providing additional information and examples to support the author's claims.

The paragraphs are also unified because they are connected and flow logically from one to the next. The first paragraph introduces the topic and sets the context, the second paragraph discusses the affordability of public transport, and the third paragraph discusses its role in promoting sustainability. The final paragraph summarizes the main points and concludes the argument.

Q:-3 write a letter to the Health Minister about the lack of medical facilities in Government Hospitals/Dispensaries.

Examination Hall,
City A.B.C.
March 14, 2023

The Health Minister,
City A.B.C.

Subject: Lack of medical facilities in Government Hospital/Dispensaries

Dear Sir,

I am writing to you today to express my concern about the lack of medical facilities in government hospitals and dispensaries. As a citizen of this country, I believe that it is our fundamental right to have access to quality healthcare facilities, especially in government-run healthcare centers.

Unfortunately, it is disheartening to see the lack of medical facilities, including essential medical equipment, medicines, and trained medical staff, in government-run hospitals and dispensaries. Patients are suffering due to the unavailability of even the most basic medical facilities, and this is unacceptable.

It is high time that the government takes notice of this issue and takes immediate steps to address it. I request you to allocate more funds for healthcare and ensure that the necessary medical facilities are available in all government hospitals and dispensaries across the country. This will not only benefit the citizens but will also help to build a healthier and more prosperous nation.

I urge you to take necessary actions to improve the medical facilities in government hospitals and dispensaries. We must work together to ensure that our citizens receive the best possible medical care, regardless of their financial status or social background.
Thank you for your attention to this matter, and I look forward to seeing positive changes in the near future.

Yours truly,
X.Y.Z.

Q:-4 write down strategies for an effective oral delivery/presentation.

Effective oral delivery/presentation is crucial in various fields, from business meetings to academic presentations. Here are some strategies to ensure an effective oral delivery/presentation:

6. Preparation: Before delivering the presentation, make sure to prepare adequately. This includes researching the topic, organizing the content, and practicing the delivery. Be familiar with the content to avoid stumbling or stuttering during the presentation.
7. Engage with the audience: Engage with the audience by maintaining eye contact, using appropriate gestures, and facial expressions. This helps to create a connection with the audience and keeps them interested in the presentation.
8. Speak clearly and confidently: Speak clearly and confidently, so that the audience can understand the content. Use a loud and clear voice, and avoid speaking too quickly or softly. Take pauses to allow the audience to absorb the information.
9. Use visual aids: Use visual aids such as PowerPoint presentations, charts, graphs, and images to help explain the content. This not only helps the audience understand the content but also keeps them engaged and interested.
10. Rehearse the presentation: Rehearse the presentation several times before delivering it. This helps to build confidence and familiarity with the content. It also helps to identify areas that need improvement and work on them before the actual presentation.
11. Use a story-telling approach: Incorporate a story-telling approach in the presentation. This helps to connect with the audience emotionally and makes the content more relatable.
12. Dress professionally: Dress professionally to create a positive impression on the audience. This helps to build credibility and trust with the audience.

In conclusion, effective oral delivery/presentation requires adequate preparation, engagement with the audience, clear and confident speaking, and use of visual aids, rehearsal, story-telling approach, and professional dressing. Implementing these strategies can help to deliver an effective oral presentation and leave a positive impact on the audience.

Q' 1: - (a) chose the word most similar in meaning to the capitalized ones.

1. Chronicle
a. Account of events b. daily ritual c. dangerous d. unsafe
2. Eloquent
a. Sequential b. successive c. well-spoken d. frequent
3. Embellish
a. Annihilate b. demolish c. tear d. decorative
4. Bounty
a. Adorn b. beautify c. sugary d. reward
5. Indelible
a. Trivial b. permanent c. deficient d. scarce

Answer Key:

- Chronicle - a. Account of events
- Eloquent - c. Well-spoken
- Embellish - d. Decorative
- Bounty - d. Reward
- Indelible - b. Permanent

Q: Fill in the blanks with appropriate preposition given at the end of every sentence.

6. What is the time-----your watch?
 - a. By b. from c. with d. of
7. I am sending you the money you have asked-----
 - a. In b. for c. out d. up
8. He jumped-----the river.
 - a. In b. over c. upon d. into
9. They will be back -----November.
 - a. Till b. until c. by d. while
10. I do not care -----their budget.
 - a. For b. of c. upon d. about

Answer Key:

- What is the time on your watch?
- I am sending you the money you have asked for.
- He jumped over the river.
- They will be back by November.
- I do not care about their budget.
-

Examination Hall,
City A.B.C.
March 14, 2023

The Editor,
The Daily Times,
City A.B.C.

Subject:

Dear Sir,

Yours truly,
X.Y.Z.

Solved Paper- 2021

What is called stock and down cycled?

"Stock" generally refers to goods or materials that are kept on hand for future use or sale, often in a retail or manufacturing context. For example, a store may keep a stock of merchandise on hand to sell to customers, or a factory may keep a stock of raw materials to use in production.

"Down cycled" refers to the process of converting a material into a lower-value or lower-quality form. This is in contrast to recycling, which typically involves converting a material into a new, higher-value or higher-quality form. For example, if a plastic bottle is down cycled, it may be converted into a lower-grade plastic product, such as a plastic bag or a plastic lumber.

What is called stock and down cycled in communication skills?

In communication skills, "called stock" may refer to the use of pre-written or pre-prepared responses, messages, or statements that are ready to use in certain situations. For example, a customer service representative may have a set of pre-written responses to use when dealing with common customer inquiries or complaints. These pre-written responses can be referred to as "called stock" because they are "called upon" or used when needed, similar to how a store's stock of merchandise is used to fulfill customer demand.

"Down cycled" is not a term commonly used in communication skills. However, if we were to apply the concept to communication, it could refer to the act of simplifying or reducing the complexity or formality of a message in order to make it more accessible or understandable to a broader audience. This is similar to how materials may be down cycled in order to create products that are more widely used or accessible.

What are the other terms relevant to these terms using in communication skills?

Here are some other terms that may be relevant to "called stock" and "down cycled" in communication skills:

Communication strategies or techniques used in specific contexts. Specifically:

1. Scripted responses: This refers to pre-written responses that are used in specific situations, such as customer service or sales interactions.
2. Standardized messaging: This refers to consistent messaging that is used across multiple channels or platforms, such as social media, email, or phone.
3. Tailored messaging: This refers to customized messaging that is tailored to a specific audience or individual, such as personalized emails or targeted marketing campaigns.
4. Simplified language: This refers to the use of clear and concise language that is easy to understand, especially when communicating with non-experts or people with limited knowledge of a particular subject.
5. Jargon-free communication: This refers to the use of language that is free from technical jargon or industry-specific terminology, in order to make the message more accessible to a wider audience.

The terms "called stock" and "down cycled" can be described as communication strategies or techniques used in specific contexts. Specifically:

"Called stock" can be described as a strategy for ensuring consistency and efficiency in communication by having pre-written responses or messages ready to use in certain situations.

"Down cycling" can be described as a technique for simplifying or reducing the complexity of a message in order to make it more accessible or understandable to a broader audience.

Both of these techniques can be used to improve communication effectiveness and efficiency in various contexts, such as customer service, marketing, or public relations.

Write three connected paragraphs on morning walk?

Morning walks are a great way to start the day. Not only do they provide physical exercise, but they also offer a range of mental and emotional benefits. A regular morning walk routine can set a positive tone for the rest of the day and help to improve overall health and wellbeing.

The physical benefits of morning walks are numerous. Walking is a low-impact exercise that can improve cardiovascular health, strengthen muscles and bones, and increase flexibility and balance. It is also a great way to kick-start the metabolism and burn calories, making it an effective weight loss tool. Even just a short 30-minute walk in the morning can provide these benefits and leave one feeling energized and ready to tackle the day.

In addition to the physical benefits, morning walks can also have a positive impact on mental and emotional wellbeing. Walking outdoors can help to reduce stress, clear the mind, and boost mood. It provides an opportunity for quiet reflection or to listen to music or podcasts, helping to set a positive and focused tone for the day ahead. Overall, a morning walk routine can be a simple but powerful way to improve health, wellbeing, and productivity.

Define topic sentence, thesis statement, and general statement in these paragraph? Where the unified sentences and unified paragraph?

Topic sentence: Morning walks are a great way to start the day.

Thesis statement: A regular morning walk routine can set a positive tone for the rest of the day and help to improve overall health and wellbeing, as it provides physical exercise, mental and emotional benefits such as reducing stress, clearing the mind, and boosting mood.

General statement: Morning walks offer a range of physical, mental, and emotional benefits, and can be a simple yet effective way to improve health, wellbeing, and productivity.

Unified sentences: The paragraph is unified as all the sentences are related to the topic sentence and the thesis statement. They all focus on the benefits of morning walks, both physical and mental, and how it can improve overall health and wellbeing.

Unified paragraph: The paragraph is unified as it discusses the same topic of the benefits of morning walks and presents a clear thesis statement about its positive impact on health and wellbeing. The sentences are all related and flow together smoothly, creating a cohesive paragraph.

Write a Memo from the Manager HR of a firm to the office employees emphasizing to following office timings (9:00am-5:00pm) strictly and the proper dress code (semi-formal but no T-shirts). Failing to which will have serious consequences?

March 15, 2023

To: All Office Employees

From: Manager HR

Subject: Strict Adherence to Office Timings and Dress Code

Dear All,

I am writing this memo to remind you all about the importance of adhering to our office timings and dress code. It has come to our notice that some employees have been violating these rules, which not only causes a disturbance in the workplace but also creates an unprofessional environment.

As you all are aware, our office timings are from 9:00am to 5:00pm. We expect all employees to strictly adhere to these timings and be present in the office during these hours. Punctuality is of utmost importance, and we expect everyone to arrive on time and not leave the office before 5:00pm without prior approval.

In addition, we also expect our employees to dress in a semi-formal attire, which excludes T-shirts. We believe that this dress code promotes a professional and respectful environment and reflects positively on the company's image.

Please note that failure to comply with these rules will result in serious consequences, including verbal warnings and even termination of employment in extreme cases. We understand that emergencies and unforeseen circumstances may arise, but we expect employees to communicate with their supervisors and provide appropriate notice in such situations.

We hope that this memo serves as a reminder to all employees to maintain a professional work environment and adhere to the office timings and dress code. Your cooperation is greatly appreciated.

Yours truly,

X.Y.Z.

Solved Paper-2018

Advance Communication Skills:

Example CV for a Newscaster (female) with 5 years of experience in a well-reputed news channel:
[Your Name] [Address] [Phone Number] [Email Address]

Objective: To utilize my skills and experience as a Newscaster to deliver accurate and engaging news stories to a wide audience.

Experience: Newscaster, [Name of News Channel], [City], [Year]-Present

- Deliver live news reports for [Name of News Show] on [Days and Times]
- Conduct in-depth interviews with high-profile personalities on current events
- Write and edit news stories for broadcast and online platforms
- Collaborate with producers, camerapersons, and other team members to ensure smooth production

Intern, [Name of News Channel], [City], [Year]

- Assisted in researching and reporting news stories
- Helped in scriptwriting and editing news reports
- Learned about the operations of a newsroom and broadcast equipment

Education: Bachelor of Arts in Journalism, [Name of University], [City], [Year]

Skills:

- Strong communication and public speaking skills
- Excellent research and writing skills
- Ability to work under pressure and tight deadlines
- Experience in broadcast equipment and software
- Bilingual proficiency in [Language 1] and [Language 2]

References: Available upon request.

Format for an Editorial Letter:

Examination Hall,
City A.B.C.
March 14, 2023

The Editor,
The News,
City A.B.C.

Subject:

Dear Sir,

I am writing in response to [Name of Article/Opinion Piece], published on [Date] in your newspaper/website. As a concerned citizen, I strongly feel the need to address certain issues and offer my opinion on the matter.

[Body of Letter: Introduce the topic and your stance. Present arguments and facts to support your position. Provide possible solutions or recommendations. Be respectful and objective.]

In conclusion, I urge the authorities and the public to take necessary actions to address this issue and work towards a better future.

Thank you for considering my letter.

Yours truly,
X.Y.Z.

Q 3: Write a short report on the following topics

- Motivational Lecture
- Annual Prize Distribution Ceremony

i. Motivational Lecture Report

On [date], a motivational lecture was organized at [venue] by [organization]. The keynote speaker was [speaker's name], who has made a name for herself as a successful entrepreneur and motivational speaker. The lecture was attended by a large audience, consisting of students, professionals, and entrepreneurs. The speaker started by sharing her personal journey of success, and how she overcame various challenges and obstacles to reach where she is today. She emphasized the importance of self-belief, hard work, and perseverance in achieving success.

The speaker then shared some practical tips and strategies for setting and achieving goals, managing time effectively, and dealing with failures and setbacks. She also emphasized the importance of building a positive mindset and surrounding oneself with supportive people.

The lecture was highly engaging and interactive, with the speaker answering various questions from the audience. Overall, it was an inspiring and motivating event that left the audience with a sense of purpose and determination.

iii. Annual Prize Distribution Ceremony Report

On [date], the annual prize distribution ceremony was held at [venue], organized by [school/college/organization]. The ceremony was attended by students, parents, and faculty members. The event started with the national anthem, followed by a welcome speech by the principal/director. The principal/director congratulated the students on their academic and extracurricular achievements, and emphasized the importance of hard work and dedication in achieving success.

The ceremony then proceeded with the distribution of prizes in various categories, including academic excellence, sports, music, and drama. The winners were called on stage, and their achievements were announced by the faculty members. The prizes were presented by the chief guest, who was a prominent personality in the field of education/arts/sports.

The ceremony also included cultural performances by students, including dance and music performances, which added to the overall festive atmosphere.

The ceremony concluded with a vote of thanks by the principal/director, who thanked the chief guest, faculty members, parents, and students for making the event a success. It was a memorable event that celebrated the hard work and achievements of the students, and inspired them to strive for excellence in the future.

From an exam point of view, the exact format of a report may vary depending on the instructions given by the examiner. However, a typical format for a report includes:

- Title: The title of the report should clearly and concisely indicate the topic being discussed.
- Introduction: The introduction should provide some background information on the topic and briefly describe the purpose and scope of the report.
- Body: The body of the report should contain the main content, organized into logical sections with subheadings. The information presented should be accurate, objective, and relevant to the topic.
- Conclusion: The conclusion should summarize the main points of the report and provide any recommendations or conclusions based on the findings.
- References: Any sources cited in the report should be listed in a separate reference section.

Write a letter' to Inspector General Police about deteriorating Law and Order situation in your area.

Examination Hall,
City A.B.C.
March 14, 2023

The General Inspector Police,
City A.B.C.

Subject:

Dear Sir,

I am writing to bring your attention to the deteriorating law and order situation in our area. As a concerned citizen, I have observed a sharp increase in criminal activities such as thefts, robberies, and drug dealing. The situation has become so grave that it is now affecting the daily lives of residents.

The lack of police presence and patrolling in our area is a major concern. Criminals roam freely without any fear of being caught. It is unfortunate that we do not feel safe in our own homes and have to constantly worry about our belongings being stolen.

I urge you to take immediate action and increase police patrolling in our area. It is essential to restore the trust of the community in the police force and provide a safe environment for citizens to live in. Additionally, I request you to launch an investigation into the criminal activities in our area and take strict action against the culprits.

Thank you for your time and attention to this matter. I hope that you will take swift action to restore the law and order situation in our area.

Yours truly,
X.Y.Z.

Q 1: Mark the following statements as true or false.

Movement in presentation suggests holding attention. T/F

Speech therapists can help with pronunciation concerns. T/F

Interviews do not require CV from candidate. T/F

Presentation includes six important stages for preparation. T/F

Rate is words uttered per 100 seconds. T/F

Answer Key:

- Movement in presentation suggests holding attention. - True
- Speech therapists can help with pronunciation concerns. - True
- Interviews do not require a CV from the candidate. - False
- Presentation includes six important stages for preparation. - True
- Rate is words uttered per 100 seconds. - False

b) Define:

i. Pitch

ii. Rate

iv. Layout

v. Jargon

vi. Emblems

i. Pitch: In public speaking, pitch refers to the highness or lowness of a speaker's voice. It can be used to convey emotions, emphasize certain words or phrases, and engage the audience.

ii. Rate: Rate, also known as speech rate or speaking rate, refers to the speed at which a person speaks. It is usually measured in words per minute (wpm) or syllables per second (sps).

iii. Layout: Layout refers to the arrangement of visual elements such as text, images, and graphics on a page, screen, or other medium. It plays an important role in the design of documents, presentations, and other types of visual communication.

iv. Jargon: Jargon is a specialized vocabulary used by people in a particular profession, trade, or group. It often includes technical terms and expressions that are not easily understood by those outside the group.

v. Emblems: Emblems are nonverbal cues that have a specific meaning within a particular culture or context. They include gestures, facial expressions, and other types of nonverbal communication that convey meaning without the use of words.

i. Pitch: The perceived highness or lowness of a sound, especially a musical note, based on the frequency of sound waves.

Additional term: Volume - The loudness or softness of a sound, often measured in decibels.

ii. Rate: The speed at which a person speaks, typically measured in words per minute (wpm).

Additional term: Fluency - The ability to speak smoothly and easily without stuttering, hesitating, or repeating words.

iii. Layout: The arrangement of visual elements on a page or screen, including text, images, and whitespace.

Additional term: Design - The process of creating the overall aesthetic of a visual project, including layout, color, typography, and imagery.

iv. Jargon: Specialized language used by a particular group or profession that may be difficult for others to understand.

Additional term: Slang - Informal language used in casual conversation, often specific to a particular region or subculture.

v. Emblems: Nonverbal gestures or symbols that convey meaning, such as hand gestures or logos.

Additional term: Body language - The nonverbal cues that accompany spoken language, including facial expressions, posture, and eye contact.

Q.2 .Answer the following short questions. (20 marks)

a) What is meant by horizontal communication? (5)

b) Explain the difference between letter head and standard plain format in a letter?

c) Explain briefly the factors of non-verbal communication? (5)

d) What are the barriers that cause hindrance in listening? (5)

Q.3. Explain in detail the parts of a business letter? (10 marks)

Q. . What are the 8 C's of effective communication? (10 marks)

Q.5 what are the different strategies that can be used to convey bad messages? (10 marks)

a) What is meant by horizontal communication?

Horizontal communication refers to the exchange of information, ideas, and messages among employees who are at the same level of the organizational hierarchy. It is communication between individuals or groups who are at the same level in the organization and do not have authority over one another.

b) Explain the difference between letterhead and standard plain format in a letter?

A letterhead is a pre-printed heading at the top of a letter that typically includes the company's name, logo, and contact information. It gives the letter a professional look and provides the recipient with the sender's details. A standard plain format in a letter, on the other hand, is a simple format with no pre-printed heading, and the sender's details are written in the beginning.

c) Explain briefly the factors of non-verbal communication? (5)

Non-verbal communication includes all forms of communication that do not involve spoken or written words. Some factors that influence non-verbal communication include body language, facial expressions, gestures, eye contact, posture, tone of voice, and personal space.

d) What are the barriers that cause hindrance in listening? (5)

There are various barriers to listening that can cause hindrance, including physical barriers such as noise, distance, or other interruptions, psychological barriers such as biases, preconceptions, and distractions, and emotional barriers like anger, frustration, or anxiety.

Q.3. Explain in detail the parts of a business letter? (10 marks)

The main parts of a business letter include:

- Heading: This includes the sender's address, date, and the recipient's address.
- Inside address: This includes the recipient's name, designation, and address.
- Salutation: This is the greeting or the opening of the letter.
- Body: This is the main content of the letter where the message is conveyed in a clear and concise manner.
- Closing: This includes the closing remarks or the conclusion of the letter.
- Signature: This is the sender's signature or name.
- Enclosures: This includes any additional documents or materials that are attached to the letter.
- Copy notation: This includes information about who else has been sent a copy of the letter.

Q.4 what are the 8 C's of effective communication? (10 marks)

The 8 C's of effective communication are:

- Clear: Communication should be clear and easily understandable.
- Concise: Messages should be brief and to the point.
- Complete: Communication should convey all necessary information.
- Correct: Information should be accurate and error-free.
- Coherent: Communication should be logical and well-organized.

- Courteous: Messages should be polite and respectful.
- Concrete: Communication should be specific and tangible.
- Considerate: Communication should be mindful of the receiver's needs, interests, and perspectives.

Q.5 what are the different strategies that can be used to convey bad messages? (10 marks)

There are several strategies that can be used to convey bad messages:

- Be honest and direct: Be clear and straightforward about the message without sugar-coating or exaggerating.
- Show empathy: Acknowledge and show understanding of the recipient's feelings or situation.
- Offer solutions or alternatives: Provide possible solutions or alternatives to mitigate the negative impact of the message.
- Provide supporting information: Share relevant facts or data to support the message.
- Focus on the future: Discuss the steps that can be taken to move forward from the situation.
- Show appreciation: Express gratitude for the recipient's efforts or contributions.
- Avoid blame: Avoid placing blame on the recipient or anyone

What is meant by vertical communication?

Vertical communication refers to the communication that takes place between individuals or groups at different levels of hierarchy within an organization. It involves the flow of information both upwards and downwards in the organizational structure. Upward communication involves the transmission of information from subordinates to superiors, such as feedback, suggestions, and reports, while downward communication involves the transmission of information from superiors to subordinates, such as instructions, policies, and directives. Effective vertical communication is essential for smooth and efficient functioning of an organization, as it ensures that all members are aware of their roles and responsibilities, and facilitates the coordination and integration of activities across different levels of hierarchy.

Q.1'. Tick the correct Synonym.

1) Illuminous

- a) Bright b) easily understood c) shining d) to make intelligible

2) Remit

- a) To send money b) to lesson c) small d) caution

3) Deny

- a) Reject b) accept d) to beg d) to swear

4) Magnificent

- a) Beautiful in a grand way b) magnify c) clumsy d) bad

5) Malign

- A) To speak good about someone b) to speak bad about someone c) freedom d) plain

6) Abhor

- a) Love b) hate c) caution d) carelessness

7) Immortal

- a) Everlasting b) subject to death c) death d) decay

8) Exemplify

- a) To explain b) loss c) to illustrate d) resolution

9) Pacifier

- a) Agitator b) mediator c) diplomat d) conqueror

10) Interruption

- a) Hindrance b) smooth c) commencement d) beginning

Answer Key:

- a) Bright
 a) To send money
 a) Reject
 a) Beautiful in a grand way
 b) to speak bad about someone
 b) hate
 a) Everlasting

- c) to illustrate
- b) mediator
- a) Hindrance

Q. 2 Give short answers of any FOUR of the following (20)

- i. Explain PAL in a presentation.
- ii. What is e-mail writing?
- iii. Explain any two principles of writing.
- iv. What do you mean by verbal communication?
- v. What do you mean by teleconferencing?

i. PAL in a presentation stands for "Purpose, Audience, and Logistics". Purpose refers to the reason or objective for giving the presentation, audience refers to the people who will be listening to the presentation, and logistics refer to the practical details, such as the time, place, and technology needed for the presentation.

ii. E-mail writing is the process of composing and sending electronic messages via the internet. It involves using a formal or informal writing style, depending on the purpose of the email, and includes proper formatting, grammar, and tone.

iii. Two principles of writing are clarity and conciseness. Clarity means making sure that the message is easy to understand, while conciseness means using the fewest possible words to convey the message effectively.

iv. Verbal communication is the exchange of information or ideas through spoken words, either face-to-face or over the phone. It involves the use of language and non-verbal cues, such as tone of voice and body language, to convey meaning.

v. Teleconferencing is a communication method that allows people in different locations to participate in a meeting or discussion through audio and/or video technology. It enables real-time communication and collaboration, reducing the need for physical travel and increasing efficiency.

In the sentence "We tell stories to teach lessons," "lessons" is a noun. Nouns are words that name a person, place, thing, or idea. In this case, "lessons" names an idea or concept that is the object of the action of teaching. It is the thing that is being taught through the use of stories. Adverb is a word that modify a verb, adjective, or other adverb and tell where, when, how, in what manner and to what extent. "Lessons" in this sentence is not modifying any verb, adjective or adverb, it is a noun which names an idea or concept.

Q. 3. Answer the following questions. (30)

- i. Define communication. What are 7cs for effective business communication?
- ii. Discuss the strategies which may be helpful in reducing stage fright.
- iii. What are the steps involved in creating a business message. Discuss them in detail.

Communication can be defined as the process of sharing information, ideas, and thoughts between two or more people.

Effective business communication requires attention to the 7 Cs:

- Clarity - The message should be clear and easy to understand.
- Conciseness - The message should be brief and to the point.
- Completeness - The message should contain all the necessary information.
- Correctness - The message should be accurate and error-free.
- Courtesy - The message should be polite and respectful.
- Consideration - The message should take the receiver's needs into account.
- Concrete - The message should be specific and tangible.

ii. Stage fright, or performance anxiety, is a common fear experienced by many people when speaking in public. Strategies that may be helpful in reducing stage fright include:

- Preparation - Practice the speech or presentation ahead of time.
- Positive self-talk - Encourage yourself with positive affirmations.
- Visualization - Imagine yourself delivering the speech or presentation successfully.
- Deep breathing - Take deep breaths to calm your nerves.
- Relaxation techniques - Try progressive muscle relaxation or meditation.
- Engage the audience - Involve the audience in the presentation to distract from nervousness.

Focus on the message - Remember that the purpose of the presentation is to communicate a message, not to impress the audience.

iii. The steps involved in creating a business message are as follows:

- Analyze the situation - Determine the purpose of the message, the audience, and the context in which it will be received.
- Gather information - Collect all relevant information needed to compose the message.
- Organize the information - Arrange the information in a logical and coherent order.
- Draft the message - Write the message, keeping in mind the 7 Cs of effective business communication.
- Revise the message - Review the message to ensure that it is clear, concise, complete, correct, courteous, considerate, and concrete.
- Edit the message - Make any necessary changes to grammar, spelling, or punctuation.
- Proofread the message - Carefully review the message for errors or typos.
- Send the message - Choose the appropriate channel for sending the message, such as email or memo.

