2: What strategies will you employ in delivering a good oral presentation? (5)

3: Common sense would suggest that a motorcyclist is not better off than a car owner. But this motor cyclist has been buying petrol- an expensive fuel, while the car owner has had the luxury to switch to a cheaper fuel- compressed natural gas- normally known as CNG.

As interesting as this debate is, it has badly failed to stir up a change to what has taken place. And more importantly it has quashed the very belief of CNG being a poor man's fuel. CNG by all means is a blanket subsidy on a fuel that is scarce not only during the winters now, but all the year round.

makers take up the challenge. It should be about a complete phase-out programme that eventually shrinks the usage of the scarce resource against excessive sales during defined time period.

1. Why is CNG not quite the poor man's fuel? (5)
2. Why do cars pile out the CNG filling stations hours before the advertised time? (5)
3. What ways would you suggest to solve the problem of CNG? (5)

Teaching, more than most other professions, has been transformed during the last hundred years from a small, highly skilled profession concerned with a minority of the population, to a large and important branch of the public service. The profession has a great and honourable tradition, extending from the dawn of history until recent times, but any teacher in the modern world who allows himself to be inspired by the ideals of his predecessors is likely to be made sharply aware that it is not his function to teach what he thinks best to impart to his pupils.

QUESTIONS WITH SHORT ANSWERS

Q:- 1 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given at the end. (

Moral self-control, and external prohibition of harmful acts, are not adequate methods dealing with our anarchic instincts. The reason they are inadequate is that these instincts are capable of as many disguises as the devil in medieval legend, and some of these disguises deceive even the elect. The only adequate method is to discover what are the needs of our instinctive nature, and then to search for the least harmful way of satisfying them. Since spontaneity is what is most thwarted (prevented) by machines, the only thing that can be provided is opportunity.

Questions:

- 1- Suggest a suitable title for the passage. [2]
- 2- What is the adequate method of dealing with our rebellious instincts? [3]
- 3- What is the part played by opportunity? [3]
- 4- How can we improve human life? [3]
- 5- How can science help humanity to achieve happiness? [4]
- 6- Make a précis of the above passage. [5]

QUESTIONS WITH SHORT ANSWERS

Q.2. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given at the end. (20)

To be a good teacher, you need some of the gifts of a good actor. You must be able to hold the attention and interest of your audience; you must be a clear speaker with a good pleasing voice and you must be able to act when you are teaching in order to make its meanings clear. Watch a good teacher; you will see he does not sit motionless before his class; he stands the whole time he is teaching; and he walks about using his arms, hands and finger's to help him in his explanation and his face to express his feelings. Listen to him and you will hear the loudness, the quality and the musical note of his voice always changing according to what he is teaching. But the fact that a good teacher has some of the gifts of a good actor does not mean that he will indeed be able to act on the-stage, for there are very important differences between the teachers' work and actors' work. The actor has to speak words which he has learnt by heart, he has to repeat certain dialogues which he has learnt earliest. Even his movements and the ways in which he uses his voice are usually fixed before. The good teacher works in a different way because his audiences take an active part in his play. They ask questions, and if they do not understand something, they will say so. So the teacher has to suit his act to the need of his audience that is his class. I know many teachers who were fine actors in the class but were unable to take part in a stage play because their brains would not keep strictly to what another had written.

Questions:

- 1- Suggest a suitable title for the passage. [2]
- 2- What is the difference between a good teacher and a good actor? [4]
- 3- What is the role of teacher in nation building? [3]
- 4- How can a good teacher be compared to a good actor? [3]
- 5- Who, according to you, is a good teacher? [3]
- 6- Make a precis of the above passage. [5]

Q.2. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given at the end.

Very few students have really any clear idea of what science mean. The teaching of science in schools tend to obscure the meaning of science. When pupils at school work for a pass in science subject, they regard it their main business to learn a large number of facts and a smaller number of principles and theories. Now all this is good in its way. A scientist must have a certain number of facts, principles and theories at his fingertips. But science would cease to be science if scientists merely worked from fixed sets of facts and theories. The essence of science is the gathering of new facts and the establishment of new theories. Science has advanced rapidly in recent history because scientists have been greedy for new knowledge, and because they have been so ready to disbelieve in textbooks of their youth. It is, therefore, most important to give our young students of science an awareness of skepticism and open-mindedness that is part of the very soul of science. Let them not think that any branch of science is a subject that one can sit down and learn. Let them realize that science is essentially a creative activity.

Questions:

- 1- Suggest a suitable title for the passage. [2]
- 2- When does science cease to be science? [3]
- 3- What are the two causes of the advancement of science? [4]
- 4- What should we teach to our students of science? [3]
- 5- How is teaching of science in schools described in this passage? [3]
- 6- Make a precis of the above passage. [5]
