Cumulative record card

Nature and purpose of the cumulative record card (crc) Cumulative Record Card:

A Cumulative Record Card is that which contains the results of different assessment and judgments held from time to time during the course of study of a student or pupil. Generally it covers three consecutive years. It contains information regarding all aspects of life of the child or student-physical, mental, social, moral and psychological. It seeks to give as comprehensive picture as possible of the personality of a child.

Importance of Cumulative Record Card:

“The significant information gathered periodically on student through the use of various techniques – tests, inventories, questionnaire, observation, interview, case study etc.”

Basically a Cumulative Record Card is a document in which it is recorded cumulatively useful and reliable information about a particular pupil or student at one place. Hence presenting a complete and growing picture of the individual concerned for the purpose of helping him during his long stay at school. And at the time of leaving it helps in the solution of his manifold problems of educational, vocational and personal-social nature and thus assisting him in his best development.

According to Jones, a Cumulative Record is, “A permanent record of a student which is kept up-to-date by the school; it is his educational history with information about his school achievement, attendance, health, test scores and similar pertinent data,” If the Cumulative Record is kept together in a folder it is called Cumulative Record Folder (CRF). If the Cumulative Record is kept in an envelope it is called a Cumulative Record Envelope (CRE). If the cumulative Record is kept in a card it is called a Cumulative Record Card (CRC)

Purpose of the cumulative record (crc)

The modern type of Cumulative Record was first made available in 1928 by the American Council on education. The need for such a record was felt in view of an inadequate information that was contained in the various forms as available. The Secondary Education Commission has made the following observations regarding the need for School records "neither the external examination singly or together can give a correct and complete picture of a pupils all round progress at any particular age of his education, yet it is imparted for us to assess this in order to determine his future course of study or his future vocation."

For this purpose, a proper system of school records should be maintained for every pupil indicating the work done by him in the school from day to day, month to month, term-to-term and year to year. Such a school record will present a clear and continuous statement of the attainment of the child in different intellectual pursuits through-out the successive stages of his education. It will also contain a progressive evolution of development in other directions of no less importance such as the growth of his interest, aptitudes and personal traits, his social adjustments, the practical and social activities in which he takes part.

Types of Information Maintained in the-CRC:

The types of information which are collected and entered or included in the CRC are as follows:

1. Identification Data:

Name of the pupil, sex, father's name, admission No., date of birth, class, section, any other information that helps in easy location of the card.

2. Environmental and Background Data:

Home-neighborhood influences, socio-economic status of the family, cultural status of the family, number of brothers and sisters, their educational background, occupations of the members of the family.

3. Physical Data:

Weight, height, illness, physical disabilities, etc.

4. Psychological Data:

Intelligence, aptitudes, interests, personality qualities, emotional and social adjustment and attitudes.

5. Educational Data:

Previous school record, educational attainments, school marks, school attendance.

6. Co-curricular Data:

Notable experiences and accomplishment in various fields-intellectual, artistic, social, recreational, etc.

7. Vocational Information:

Vocational ambitions of the student.

8. Supplementary Information:

It is obtained by the use of standardized tests.

9. Principal's overall remarks.

It contains principal's remarks on the monthly and annual assessments.

Sources of Collection of Information:

Information about every pupil or child for the maintenance in the CRC should be collected from the following sources:

1. Parents or guardian's data form:

Family background and the personal history of the child may be gathered from the parents who are asked to fill in the form.

2. Personal data form:

In order to obtain information regarding the pupil's interest and participation in extra-curricular activities and his vocational preferences the personal data is of great use. The pupil may be asked to give details of himself. This will supplement the information obtained from the parents data form.

3. School records:

These include:

- (i) Records of achievement tests.
- (ii) Records of other tests.
- (iii) Admission and withdrawal record.

4. Other sources:

These include:

- (i) Personal visits by the teachers
- (ii) Observations made by the teachers.

Advantages of the CRC

The Cumulative Record is characterized in the following grounds:

- (i) The Cumulative Record is a permanent record about the pupil or student.
- (ii) It is maintained up-to-date. Whenever any new information is obtained about the pupil it is entered in the card.
- (iii) It presents a complete picture about the educational progress of the pupil, his past achievements and present standing.
- (iv) It is comprehensive in the sense that it contains all information about the pupil's attendance, test scores, health etc.
- (v) It contains only those information's which are authentic, reliable, pertinent, objective and useful.

(vi) It is continuous in the sense that it contains information about the pupil from the time he enters for pre-school education or kindergarten system till he leaves the school.

(vii) Whenever any information is desired by any-body concerned with the welfare of the child he should be given the information but not the card itself.

(viii) Confidential information about the pupil is not entered in the CRC but kept in a separate file.

Keeping of record is a continuous process and should cover the whole history from pre-school or kindergarten to the college and this should follow the child from school. The Card will furnish valuable information's about the growth of a child and the new school can place him and deal with him to a greater advantage.

All the teachers and the guidance workers should have access to these records. Matters too confidential may be kept at a separate place. The child concerned may have an opportunity to study his own Cumulative Record in consultation with the counselor.

The essential data should be kept in a simple, concise and readable form so that it may be convenient to find out the main points of life of the child at a glance.

Records should be based on an objective data. They should be as reliable as possible.

The record system should provide for a minimum of repetition of items.

It should contain reliable, accurate and objective information.

A manual should be prepared and directions for the guidance of persons, feeling out of using the records given in it.

The record should be maintained by the counsellor and should not be circulated throughout the faculty for making entries on it by other members of the staff. These entries should be made by them on other forms and the entry in this card should be made very carefully by counsellor.

Design of CRC

While designing the cumulative record card following principles should be considered

Data contained in the cumulative record card (CRC) should be

- 1. accurate
- 2. Complete
- 3. Comprehensive
- 4. Objective
- 5. Usable
- 6. Valid
