

Customer-Driven market Strategies

There are three steps:-

- 1) Segmentation
- 2) Targeting
- 3) Positioning

What is positioning?

Market positioning refers to "the process of establishing the image or identity of a brand or product that consumers perceive it in a certain way".

For example:-

a car maker may position itself as a luxury status symbol, whereas a battery maker may position its batteries as the most reliable and long-lasting.

Brand positioning:-

Brand positioning is a process of positioning your brand in the mind of customer. create superior value of your brand in Customer mind & positioning your brand product better than competitors.

Positioning market:-

positioning is a marketing concept that outlines what a business should do to market its product or service to its customers.
In positioning, the marketing department creates an image for the product based on its intended audience. This is created through the use of promotion, price, place and product.

What is positioning strategy:- positioning refers to the place that a brand occupies in the mind of the customer and how it is distinguished from product from competitors. primarily, it is about "the place a brand occupies in the mind of its target audience". positioning is now a regular marketing activity or strategy.

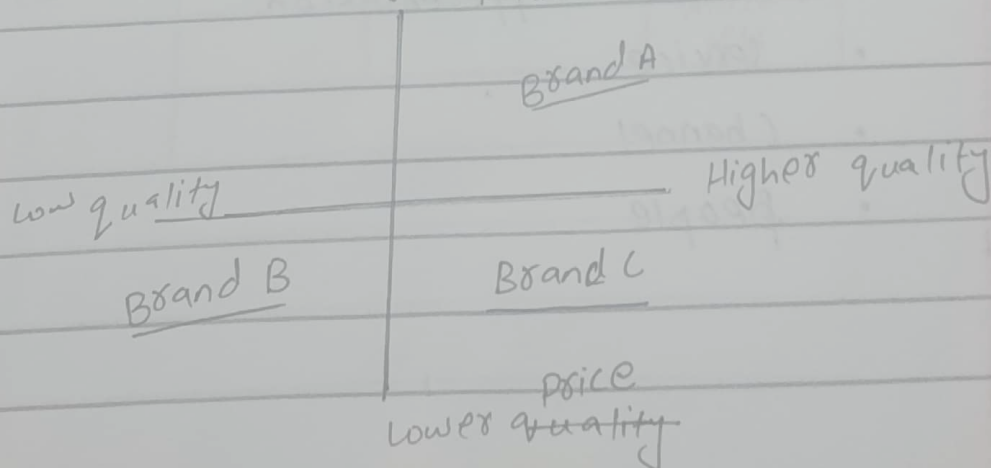

Product position:-

"the place it occupies in consumers mind relative to competing products."

positioning map:-

In planning, their differentiation and positioning strategies, marketers often "prepare perceptual positioning maps that show consumer perceptions of their brands versus those competing products" on important buying dimensions.

E.g:- positioning map

5 main Strategies points:-

- Identify possible value differences and competitive advantage
