

CHP: 14

Pillars of Government

"Pillars of government refer to the four main branches institutions that make up a democratic system of governance."

These four primary pillars of government are;

→ Parliament

→ Executive

→ Judiciary

→ Army

Each pillar plays a vital role in the governance and functioning of the state.

Parliament :-

"Parliament is the supreme legislative body in a country, responsible for making laws, approving government policies, and holding the government accountable. It's typically composed of elected representatives with various responsibilities."

Parliament plays a vital role in :

- Ensuring democratic governance
- Protecting individual rights
- Promoting accountability and transparency.
- Shaping national policies and Law.

Functions :-

Law making :- Parliament creates, amends, and repeals laws.

Representation :- Members of parliaments (MPs) represent constituent's interests.

Oversight :- Parliament holds the government accountable through:

- Questions and debates
- Committee inquires
- Investigation

Budget approval :- Parliaments approves government spending and taxation.

Policy making :- Parliament shapes national policies and priorities.

Accountability :- Parliament ensures the government is responsible for its actions

Debates and discussion :- Parliament provides a platform for discussing national issues.

Checks and balances :- Parliament ensures the executive branch does not abuse power.

Constitutional amendments :- Parliament can amend the constitution.

Executive :-

“Executive is the one of the four branches of government, responsible for implementing and enforcing laws.”

It's play a important role in :

- Leadership and providing direction
- Ensuring effective governance.
- Public service delivery.

Functions :-

Implementing laws :- Carrying out laws passed by legislature.

Administration :- Managing government departments and agencies.

Policy implementation :- putting policies into actions

Decision making :- Making decision on the behalf of government.

Representation :- Representing the state internationally

Appointments :- Appointing officials, judges and other key personnel.

Emergency response :- Responding to national emergencies.

Diplomacy :- Conducting Foreign relations and diplomacy.

Public service delivery :- Delivering essential services to citizens.

Judiciary:-

"Judiciary is an independent branch of government that applies the law to resolve disputes, protect individuals rights and uphold the rule of law."

Judiciary play a vital role in:

- Ensures justice and fairness.
- Protects individual rights and freedoms.
- Upholds the rule of law.
- Provides a forum for resolving dispute.

Functions:-

Interpreting laws:- Interpreting the meaning and intent of laws.

Protecting individual rights:- Ensuring that individuals rights and freedom are protected.

Upholding the rule of law:- Ensuring that the government and citizens comply with law.

Providing justice:- Ensuring that justice served in individual cases.

Checking and balancing :- checking the power of the executive and legislative branches.

Setting Precedents :- Establishing legal precedents that guide future cases.

Protecting the constitution :- Ensuring that law and government actions comply with constitutions.

Army :-

"Army is a land-based military force responsible for defending a country's territory, protecting its citizens and supporting national interests."

Army plays a critical role in :

- Protects national security.
- support national interests
- Provides humanitarian aid
- Maintain stability

Function :-

Defense :- Protecting the country from external threats and aggression.

Security :- Maintaining internal security and stability.

Peace keeping :- Participating in international peace keeping missions.

Humanitarian Assistance :- Providing aid during natural disasters or crises.

Border Protection :- Defending the country's borders.

Supporting Civil authorities :- Assisting law enforcement and other agencies during emergencies.

Deterrence :- Deterring potential aggressors through military presence and capability.

Combat Operations :- Engaging in combat to defend national interests.

Crisis Response :- Responding to national emergencies and crises.

Conclusion :-

The four pillar's of government work together to ensure a balanced and functioning democracy. Together, they:

- Ensure checks and Balances.
- Protect individual rights
- Promot transparency and accountability
- Support democratic governance.

A strong and independent 4 pillar system is essential for a healthy democracy, ensuring power is distributed evenly and citizen's rights are protected.
